BUCKLEY, SPERBER SENTENCED VICTIMS CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER HOUSES

FORMER TREASURER
GIVEN TWO AND ONE HALF YEARS IN PEN

Fined $1,000; Will Appeal; Sperber Gets Four Months

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—Unless the appeals courts intervene former State Treasurer Bert B. Buckley of Dayton must serve two years, six months and a day in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

This sentence was pronounced by Federal Judge Benson W. Hough when Buckley, convicted of conspiring to bribe a federal dry agent, was brought before him late yesterday. He also was fined $1,000. The sentence was considered lenient. It was imposed after the former treasurer's attorney, Robert N. Brumbaugh of Dayton, asked the court to be merciful.

Brumbaugh pointed out that while Buckley had been convicted of offering a bribe, "coercion money" actually did not change hands and that the offense, therefore, was not as grave as it might be.

After Buckley was sentenced, Joseph Sperber, brewmaster of the Jackson Brewery, Cincinnati, who pleaded guilty to a similar charge, was sentenced to four months in the Hamilton County Jail and fined $200.

John L. Schrimper, Cincinnati attorney who also pleaded guilty, will be sentenced later.

The three men were accused of trying to bribe John Eckhart, a federal prohibition officer, to tip them when raids or inspections on the Jackson Brewery were planned.

The government brought out, during the Buckley trial, that the three men were willing to pay for protection. Buckley came into court with his wife and one daughter. He received sentence without show of emotion and Brumbaugh immediately filed a petition in error, seeking a reversal of the conviction, and Judge Hough granted a stay of execution and fixed bond at $10,000.

Buckley was found guilty on ten counts, but several of them overlapped and he was sentenced on only four. The individual sentences total seven years, six months and three days, but all of them run concurrently with the first sentence which was two years, six months and a day.

If Buckley is unable to pay his fine he must serve it out in the Montgomery County Jail, the court directed.

Buckley told newspapermen after sentence was passed, that he had nothing to say. He then went to the U. S. Marshal's office to post new bond.

Sperber wept as he stood before the bar. His attorney pleaded for a suspended sentence that Sperber might support his wife and children but the court refused.

Buckley was convicted February 2 after one of the most sensational trials in Ohio in years.

GAMBLERS ROUTED BY TEAR GAS BOMBS

NORTHFIELD, O., March 14.—The Summit County squad, using tear gas bombs, routed 200 alleged gamblers in a surprise attack on the Northfield Athletic Club here, shortly before last midnight.

Prominent citizens had complained the club was being used for other than athletic purposes, and the vice squad, armed with bombs and sledge hammers, proceeded to investigate.

The hammers soon reduced doors to splinters and the bombs completed the work. Women were among the 200 persons evacuating the place.

Most of the alleged gamblers were less apprehensive of the police than that newspapermen were among the raiding party.

TWENTY DIE IN CHINESE FIRE

NANKING, China, March 14.—Twenty persons were killed and scores injured today when 790 homes were destroyed by a spectacular fire that started at Pagoda bridge from incense being burned as a tribute to Sun Yat Sen.

The blaze spread so rapidly that it reached the nearby huts before it could be controlled.

The ceremony being held at the time of the fire was in honor of the anniversary of the death of Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Chinese republic and known as "the George Washington of China."

ORANGE WHICH LURED BOY FROM HOME OFFERED IN EVIDENCE

WOOSTER, O., March 14.—The orange which the state charges was used as bait to lure 14-year-old Melvin Horst to the home of Elias and Arthur Arnold, on trial charged with kidnapping the boy, was introduced in evidence as the trial was resumed today.

Charles Blubaker, a dairy cold storage employee, brought the orange into court. He said it had been kept at a temperature of 2 above since January 2, when it was picked up at Orrville. The boy was kidnapped December 27.

John Flood, Orrville newspaperman, then took the stand and told of his search near the Arnold home for part of a toy he thought Melvin might have dropped when he was abducted.

Near the ash pile back of the Arnold home, Flood and Walter A. Mougey, special prosecutor found an orange, he said. From its appearance the newspaper man judged someone had bitten it.

Eastern Star District Elects Officers Here

Mrs. Mildred S. Junk, Mt. Sterling, Will Head District
Next Year's Meeting At Springfield;
Nearly 400 Present

Mrs. Mildred S. Junk, Mt. Sterling, O., was elected president of the eighteenth district, Order of Eastern Star, at the sixth annual meeting held in the Masonic Temple, this city, Wednesday.

Miss Florence Swan, chaplain of Aldora Chapter, No. 262, this city, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Lucy P. Baldwin, St. Paris, O., and Mrs. Edith T. Adams, of Mechanicsburg, O., were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The next annual district meeting will be held at Springfield the second Wednesday in March, 1930. Home City Chapter, No. 258, will be the hostess chapter on this occasion.

Three hundred and eighty-eight persons registered for the morning and afternoon sessions of the meeting, the visitors including many present and past state officers.

The morning business session opened at 9:30 o'clock with an executive board meeting and the meeting was called to order at 10:30 a. m. by Mrs. Jessie Field Dorn, Sedalia, junior past president.

Mrs. Ethel B. Webster, Springfield, retiring district president, presided at the session. Following the invocation delivered by Mrs. Bessie Fargo Boice, Columbus, grand secretary, came the presentation of the grand officers, the 1929 matrons with honorary escort and presentation of guest and past presidents of the eighteenth district.

Aldora Chapter, No. 262, this city, was hostess to the delegates and the address of welcome was given by Miss Ruth A. Smith, the hostess matron of the local chapter. Mrs. Junk, the retiring vice-president and new president, made the response.

The morning session closed with other routine business, election of officers and the roll call of chapters.

Dinner was served in the temple at noon and the afternoon session, opening at 1:30 o'clock, was called to order by Mrs. Elma Hallinger, associate grand matron, of Home City Chapter, Springfield.

Newly-elected officers of the district were presented and this was followed by an impressive memorial service conducted by Elizabeth M. Hood Chapter, No. 505, of Urbana, and presentation of the deputy grand matron by Mrs. Inez M. Armstrong, Osborn, of Antioch Chapter, No. 445.

The 1928 officers of Aldora Chapter were in charge of the opening

Flood said that with Mougey he searched the alley and yard to see if garbage might have been dropped nearby. They found nothing else he said.

Mougey who left the prosecutor's table to take the stand said that when the orange was picked up it bore marks apparently made by teeth.

Thus the state corroborated Junior Hanna who swore yesterday that Arthur Arnold lured Melvin into his yard by offering him an orange.

Junior swore that Arthur accompanied by his father carried the little boy into the Arnold home. Melvin kicked and yelled, according to Junior's story. It is the state's theory that Melvin dropped the fruit.

The audience in the court room of Judge George A. Starn waited anxiously today for the appearance of a mystery witness the state is reported to have ready to testify.

PEACE CONFERENCE CALLED IN NOGALES MAY HALT UPRISING

Three Battles May End Trouble If Meeting Fails

NOGALES, Ariz., March 14.—Belief that a conference between federal and revolutionary leaders here today will bring about preliminary steps for peace was expressed by Mexican Consul I. M. Vasquez.

Rebel chiefs insisted they would not attend the conference, but Vasquez said he was confident some of them would appear at the last minute.

The government will be represented by Roberto V. Pesquiera, personal representative of President Portes Gil.

"I predict the end of the revolution in ten days," Vasquez said.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 14.—Three battles, on which hung the fate of Mexico's week and a half old revolution, impended today in central and northwest Mexico.

Rebels rushed more troops to Torreon in Durango to defend the rail center against former President Plutarco Elias Calles, who is said to have the largest army ever mobilized in the southern republic.

Another column of revolutionists slowly girdled Naco, Sonora, hoping to recapture that border point from traitorous rebels.

The third battle was imminent at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, important seaport on the gulf of California, as rebels made forced marches over a desert to attack it.

Rebel headquarters here announced that first blood in the long heralded battle of Torreon had been drawn by revolutionary cavalry. A detachment of Calles' army was put to flight by the rebel mounted troops, several killed and a number of prisoners taken.

The rebels said they anticipated Calles would strike soon to get possession of Torreon, which is not only an important rail center but also contains large supplies of war material and a powder factory.

From federal sources came reports that they were slowly driving rebel outposts back toward Torreon and that several deflections had occurred in the rebel ranks.

Co-operating with Calles was General Juan Almazan, Beau Brummel of all Mexican generals. He was reported advancing on Torreon from the east while the former president was drawing his troops up from the south.

Federal advisers said a detachment of rebels, fleeing from Saltillo, was overtaken and defeated, thirty being killed and 300 captured.

Rebel headquarters not only denied the report but said that Saltillo, reported captured by the federals day before yesterday, still was in the hands of the revolutionists.

MEXICO CITY, March 14.—Federal troops closed in from three sides today to crush the rebel city of Torreon, state of Coahuila.

Simultaneously, Plutarco Elias Calles directed the government forces in Durango against the capital of that state, driving retreating insurgents back after a severe battle in which eighty rebel casualties were reported.

The three-fold offensive against Torreon, stronghold of rebel under General J. Gonzales Escobar, included the columns of Gen. Juan Almazan from Monterey, Gen. Saturnino Cedillo from Saltillo, and Gen. Lazaro Cárdenas from the city of Zacatecas.

The Presidential announced that federals were surrounding Torreon and were ready to attack from all sides.

The victory of Calles' troops occurred between Canitas and Durango. Fourteen rebels were killed and seven prisoners executed.

Some senators said Ackerman is "put out" because Governor Cooper will not help him get his state police bill passed.

The senator, arguing for his bill in debate some weeks ago said Cooper was for it. The governor's office later denied this.

Silver said Ackerman had no reason to make the charges. He pointed out that the law called for consultation with the finance director on departmental appropriations.

SENATE CONSIDERS OFFICE BUILDING; BIBLE BILL COMING

Miller And Johnson Bills Are Before House Also

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—The state office building question, unsolved by the last two legislatures, came before the state senate again today.

The principal measure on the senate's calendar was the office building bill by Rep. Gilbert Morgan, Cleveland, providing for a building to be financed by a two-tenths of a mill direct state tax levy.

The major measures up for consideration in the house were the Miller bill, to permit state-supported educational institutions to build and finance dormitories, and the Johnson bill, to relieve automobile and aircraft owners and drivers of liability for damages for injuries to guest passengers.

The battle over the "Bible bill," which nearly wrecked the 1925 legislature, was to be reopened tonight when the schools committee of the house holds its first public hearing.

The Morgan building bill passed the house several weeks ago. In the meantime the senate passed the Rowe bill, also providing for a state building.

Following conference with Governor Cooper, legislative leaders and leaders and factions supporting the two bills, which differed materially, reached at least a tentative working agreement under which the Morgan bill was amended and is to be brought up for action in the senate.

The bill, as amended, provides for a building commission to be appointed by Governor Cooper, with authority to buy a site and construct a building or lease or buy a suitable structure, if necessary.

The two-tenths of a mill levy to provide the necessary funds would be in effect two years, 1930 and 1931. This would be increased by proceeds of the sale of the Wyandot state office building and the lease on the Hartman state office building.

Before Major Segrave set the new record White's Triplex had been the fastest automobile in the world. Ray Keech drove it 207 miles an hour here last year.

MUTILATES SELF WITH KNIFE

Blame Religious Fanaticism For Act By Well-Known Kentuckian.

CINCINNATI, O., March 14.—Religious fervor was assigned today as the cause of the self-mutilation of Robert Fletcher Scobee, 56, member of a prominent Winchester, Ky., family.

Since ten days ago when he became a member of a small church in Winchester, Scobee has been subject to spells, due, police say, to fervent church activities.

Scobee registered in a downtown hotel yesterday. He called hotel attaches last night and when they went to his room they found he had been mutilated. He was reading a Bible.

Police said Scobee is a former Winchester policeman and is a brother of R. M. and James Scobee, owners of a planing mill company at Winchester. His cousin, Davey B. Scobee, is mayor of Winchester.

LEE BIBLE CRUSHED FATALLY WHEN AUTO STRIKES SAND DUNE

Was Traveling 202 Miles An Hour; Camera Man Is Killed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 14.—Tragedy has descended upon Daytona's ocean speedway for the second time within a year and today, as a result, all further speed tests over the famous beach course had been cancelled for the remainder of the season.

Lee Bible, an obscure racing driver who staked his life upon a chance at fame, was killed yesterday when the 1500-horsepower Triplex car he was piloting for J. M. White went out of control while traveling at a rate of more than three miles a minute. The huge black machine, bounding off the course at dazzling speed and with a tremendous roar, also caused the death of Charles R. Traub, Pathe News cameraman who had been photographing the speed trial.

Bible was attempting to regain for America the automobile speed record. Major H. O. D. Segrave, the British driver who set a new record of 231.36 miles per hour over the Daytona Beach course Monday, was among the thousands of spectators along the course but was too far from the scene of the crash to witness it.

Major Segrave said later that he would have his Golden Arrow racer shipped back to England immediately and would not race an automobile in America again this year, if at all.

Val Haresnap, secretary of the A. A. A., said that the Daytona Beach racing meet, scheduled to continue to March 17, would be suspended because of the accident.

White, owner of the Triplex, indicated he would abandon automobile racing.

The accident to the Triplex was the second of its kind within a year. Last April Frank Lockhart, American racing driver, was killed when, after a tire on his machine blew out while he was attempting to set a new record, the Stutz racer turned end over end for 1,000 feet. Exactly what happened within the shielded driver's compartment of the Triplex, as Bible fought to control the car, will never be known. The machine was reduced to junk, making impossible an analysis of its condition.

From accounts of witnesses, however, it appeared that Bible either had lifted his foot from the accelerator too quickly or had set his brakes when he feared the Triplex would plunge into the ocean. The car was traveling at about 202 miles per hour when it swerved toward the sea. Then it turned, with Bible apparently in control, but instead of straightening out, the big machine whizzed across the sixty-foot track and dived into a sand dune on the shore side.

Traub had been on the dunes, cranking at his movie camera. He scrambled wildly for safety but the machine struck him, severing his body. On and on the great mass of steel bounded, its momentum carrying it 200 feet along the dunes in a shower of sand and smoke. Bible's body was thrown out just before the car stopped.

The accident was not visible from the stands where Bible's wife, who had followed his career as a dirt track racing driver and later as a mechanic and garage proprietor, had been watching the tests.

But from a loud-speaker suspended overhead the words of an announcer, getting his information from the mile-post stations along the course, told the tragic story.

Bible was 42 years old. He left two children, a boy and girl. Traub was one of the star men of the Pathe organization, having come here after photographing safety tests on the submarine S-4 off the Florida coast.

Before Major Segrave set the new record White's Triplex had been the fastest automobile in the world. Ray Keech drove it 207 miles an hour here last year.

Two Families Practically Wiped Out; Relief Workers Find Bodies; Twister Apparently Touched At Only One Place

LIBERTY, S. C., March 14.—Ten persons were killed and a score injured by a tornado last night in the town of Six Mile, near here.

Physicians and volunteer relief workers reported finding the ten bodies when they visited the town today in response to calls for aid.

A twisting tornado, dipping down out of the sky and touching but one spot, practically obliterated the community. The community holds but few large were demolished. The number of injured is not known. The school building, a church, and the village store were all razed or seriously damaged.

G. N. Garrett, Pickens County deputy sheriff, his wife, and three children, were killed and in another family the mother and her three children were killed.

Most of the homes in the village were destroyed. The tornado came without warning. About 20 of the persons whose homes were wrecked were brought here and placed under the care of police authorities.

ORDER THREE TRUNK RAILROADS TO SELL RAILWAY IN 90 DAYS

Wheeling and Lake Erie Bought Without Permission

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The spy system in federal prisons may be subjected to a congressional investigation at the coming special session of congress, authorities in both houses indicated today as the case of Warden John Snook of Atlanta penitentiary neared a climax.

The system was started by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, as an aid to prohibition enforcement. As a part of the system, she was operating out of the department, convicted in court on a trumped-up charge so he may be sent to the penitentiary. While there he works with the justice department over the warden's head, giving information not only concerning prison conditions but also about the news of the criminal world inside prison walls.

Senators and representatives who have protested against the system have been met, they say, with the statement of the justice department that continuance of the espionage practice is essential. Senator Borah of Idaho, leading campaigner for President Hoover, is to see Attorney General Mitchell today about the Snook case.

Snook wrote a letter to the department announcing if the practice is continued the letter could be considered his resignation as warden of Atlanta.

No matter how the Snook case comes out, Borah is expected to lead the move for a congressional inquiry.

On the house side Rep. John Boylan, Democrat, New York, member of the prison condition committee is advocating an inquiry.

Opponents of the practice contend it corrupts the federal courts weakens authority of wardens and is contrary to American ideals. Justice department officials maintain they have received much valuable information from prison spies and contend the system enables them to

ACKERMAN "OUT" WITH GOVERNOR COOPER

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—Senator Joseph N. Ackerman of Cleveland, who started out this year with an ambitious program including a state constitutional bill, is now "on the outs" with the Cooper administration. It was declared today. Ackerman, before the senate finance committee last night, charged that State Finance Director Harry D. Silver was attempting to become a "dictator" of legislation.

"If Harry Silver is to run the affairs of the assembly, let us all go home and turn the work over to him," Ackerman said. "He is seeking to lump sum appropriations for departments contrary to public policy."

"Governor Cooper's mind is changed very often. He is Mr. one thing and then against it. I do not think he should stand for it."

Some senators said Ackerman is "put out" because Governor Cooper will not help him get his state police bill passed. The senator, arguing for his bill in debate some weeks ago, said Cooper was for it. The governor's office later denied this.

Silver said Ackerman had no reason to make the charges. He pointed out that the law calls for consultation with the finance director on departmental appropriations.

PEACE CONFERENCE CALLED IN NOGALES MAY HALT UPRISING

Three Battles May End
Trouble If Meeting Fails

NOGALES, Ariz., March 14.—Belief that a conference between federal and revolutionary leaders here today will bring about preliminary steps for peace was expressed by Mexican Consul I. M. Vasquez.

Rebel chiefs insisted they would not attend the conference, but Vasquez said he was confident some of them would appear at the last minute.

The government will be represented by Roberto V. Pesquiera, personal representative of President Portes Gil.

"I predict the end of the revolution in ten days," Vasquez said.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 14.—Three battles, on which hung the fate of Mexico's week and a half old revolution, are expected today in central and northwest Mexico.

Rebels rushed more troops to Torreon in Durango to defend the rail center against former President Plutarco Elias Calles, who is said to have the largest army ever mobilized in the southern republic.

Another column of revolutionists slowly girded Naco, Sonora, hoping to recapture that border point from traitorous rebels.

The third battle was imminent at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, important seaport on the gulf of California, as rebels made forced marches over a desert to attack it.

Rebel headquarters here announced that first blood in the long heralded battle of Torreon had been drawn by revolutionary cavalry. A detachment of Calles' army was put to flight by the rebel mounted troops, several killed and a number of prisoners taken.

The rebels said they anticipated Calles would strike soon to get possession of Torreon, which is not only an important rail center but also contains large supplies of war material and a powder factory.

From federal sources came reports that they were slowly driving rebel outposts back toward Torreon and that several deflections had occurred in the rebel ranks.

Co-operating with Calles was General Juan Almazan, Beau Brummel of all Mexican generals. He was reported advancing on Torreon from the east while the former president was drawing his troops up from the south.

Federal advisers said a detachment of rebels, fleeing from Saltillo, was overtaken and defeated, thirty being killed and 300 captured.

Rebel headquarters not only denied the report but said that Saltillo, reportedly captured by the federales yesterday, still was in the hands of the revolutionists.

MEXICO CITY, March 14.—Federal troops closed in from three sides today to crush the rebel city of Torreon, state of Coahuila.

Simultaneously, Plutarco Elias Calles directed the government forces in Durango against the capital of that state, driving retreating insurgents back after a severe battle in which eighty rebel casualties were reported.

The three-fold offensive against Torreon, stronghold of rebels under General J. Gonzales Escobar, included the columns of Gen. Juan Almazan from Monterey, Gen. Saturnino Cedillo from Saltillo, and Gen. Lazaro Cárdenas from the city of Zacatecas.

The Presidencia announced that federal forces were surrounding Torreon and were ready to attack from all sides.

The victory of Calles' troops occurred between Canitas and Durango. Fourteen rebels were killed and seven prisoners executed.

Nearer to Trouble

One of the things Brig-General Frank R. McCoy does best is stop trouble. Formerly stationed in the Philippines and Nicaragua where there was plenty of trouble, General McCoy has now been transferred to Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, Texas, near the Mexican border.

SENATE CONSIDERS OFFICE BUILDING; BIBLE BILL COMING

Miller And Johnson Bills
Are Before House
Also

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—The state office building question, unsolved by the last two legislatures, came before the state senate again today.

The principal measure on the senate's calendar was the office building bill by Rep. Gilbert Morgan, Cleveland, providing for a building to be financed by a two-tenths of a mill direct state tax levy.

The major measures up for consideration in the house were the Miller bill, to permit state-supported educational institutions to build and finance dormitories, and the Johnson bill, to relieve automobile and aircraft owners and drivers of liability for damages for injuries to guest passengers.

The battle over the "Bible bill," which nearly wrecked the 1925 legislature, was to be reopened tonight when the schools committee of the house holds its first public hearing.

The Morgan building bill passed the house several weeks ago. In the meantime the senate passed the Rowe bill, also providing for a state building. Following conference with Governor Cooper, legislative leaders and leaders and factions supporting the two bills, which differed materially, reached at least a tentative working agreement under which the Morgan bill was amended and is to be brought up for action in the senate.

The bill, as amended, provides for a building commission to be appointed by Governor Cooper, with authority to buy a site and construct a building or lease or buy a suitable structure, if necessary. The two-tenths of a mill levy to provide the necessary funds would be in effect two years, 1930 and 1931. This would be increased by proceeds of the sale of the Wyandott state office building and the lease on the Hartman state office building.

AKRON, O., March 14.—Anna Lopocilo, 19, daughter of Michael and Mary Lopocilo, was kidnapped by three men early today while enroute to work at the E. F. Goodrich plant.

The men drove alongside the curb and while two of them remained in the car, the third leaped out, grabbed Anna and pushed her into the car.

Nearby residents, drawn by the girl's screams, were unable to obtain the car's license number as the men sped away.

Police and deputies were called out but at a late hour no trace of the girl had been found.

LEE BIBLE CRUSHED FATALLY WHEN AUTO STRIKES SAND DUNE

Was Traveling 202 Miles
An Hour; Camera
Man Is Killed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 14.—Tragedy has descended upon Daytona's ocean speedway for the second time within a year and today, as a result, all further speed tests over the famous beach course had been cancelled for the remainder of the season.

Lee Bible, an obscure racing driver who staked his life upon a chance at fame, was killed yesterday when the 1500-horsepower Triplex car he was piloting for J. M. White went out of control while traveling at a rate of more than three miles a minute. The huge black machine, bounding off the course at dizzying speed and with a tremendous roar, also caused the death of Charles R. Traub, Pathe News cameraman who had been photographing the speed trial.

Bible was attempting to regain for America the automobile speed record. Major H. O. D. Segrave, the British driver who set a new record of 231.36 miles per hour over the Daytona Beach course Monday, was among the thousands of spectators along the course but was too far from the scene of the crash to witness it.

Major Segrave said later that he would have his Golden Arrow racer shipped back to England immediately and would not race an automobile in America again this year, if at all.

Val Haresnap, secretary of the A. A. A., said that the Daytona Beach racing meet, scheduled to continue to March 17, would be suspended because of the accident.

White, owner of the Triplex, indicated he would abandon automobile racing.

The accident to the Triplex was the second of its kind within a year. Last April Frank Lockhart, American racing driver, was killed when, after a tire on his machine blew out while he was attempting to set a new record, the Scutz car turned over and ended for 1,000 feet. Exactly what happened within the shielded driver's compartment of the Triplex, as Bible fought to control the car, will never be known. The machine was reduced to junk, making impossible an analysis of its condition.

From accounts of witnesses, however, it appeared that Bible either had lifted his foot from the accelerator too quickly or had set his brakes when he feared the Triplex would plunge into the ocean. The car was traveling at about 202 miles per hour when it swerved toward the sea. Then it turned, with Bible apparently in control, but instead of straightening out, the big machine whizzed across the sixty-foot track and dived into a sand dune on the shore side.

Traub had been on the dunes, cranking at his movie camera. He scrambled wildly for safety but the machine struck him, severing his body. On and on the great mass of steel bounded, its momentum carrying it 200 feet along the dunes in a shower of sand and smoke.

Bible's body was thrown out just before the car stopped.

The accident was not visible from the stands where Bible's wife, who had followed his career as a dirt track racing driver and later as a mechanic and garage proprietor, had been watching the tests.

But from a loud-speaker suspended overhead the words of an announcer, getting his information from the mile-post stations along the course, told the tragic story.

Bible was 42 years old. He left two children, a boy and girl. Traub was one of the star men of the Pathe organizations and came here after photographing safety tests on the submarine S-4 off the Florida coast.

Before Major Segrave set the new record White's Triplex had been the fastest automobile in the world. Ray Keech drove it 207 miles an hour here last year.

MUTILATES SELF WITH KNIFE

Blame Religious Fanaticism For Act By Well-Known Kentuckian.

CINCINNATI, O., March 14.—Religious fervor was assigned today as the cause of the self-mutilation of Robert Fletcher Scobee, 56, member of a prominent Winchester, Ky., family.

Since ten days ago when he became a member of a small church in Winchester, Scobee has been subject to spells, due, police say, to fervent church activities.

Scobee registered in a downtown hotel yesterday. He called hotel attaches last night and when they went to his room they found he had been mutilated. He was reading a Bible.

Police said Scobee is a former Winchester policeman and is a brother of R. M. and James Scobee, owners of a planing mill company at Winchester. His cousin, Davey B. Scobee, is mayor of Winchester.

VICTIMS CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER HOUSES

Two Families Practically Wiped Out; Relief Workers Find Bodies; Twister Apparently Touched At Only One Place

LIBERTY, S. C., March 14.—Ten persons were killed and a score injured by a tornado last night in the town of Six Mile, near here.

Physicians and volunteer relief workers reported finding the ten bodies when they visited the town today in response to calls for aid.

A twisting tornado, dipping down out of the sky and touching but one spot, practically obliterated the community. The community holds but few families, two of which suffered. The father of one family was the only one to escape.

G. N. Garrett, Pickens County deputy sheriff, his wife, and three children, were killed and in another family the mother and her three children were killed.

Most of the homes in the vicinity were destroyed. The tornado came without warning. About 20 of the persons whose homes were wrecked were brought here and placed under the care of police authorities.

OHIO LEGISLATURE TODAY

State office building bill up for passage by the senate. Bill to permit state-supported educational institutions to build and finance dormitories, up for passage by the house. Johnson bill to discourage "thumb-jerking" by relieving motorists of damage liability for injury to passengers, up for consideration in house. Schools committee of house to hold public hearing at night on a "Bible bill."

ORDER THREE TRUNK RAILROADS TO SELL RAILWAY IN 90 DAYS

Wheeling And Lake Erie Bought Without Permission

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The eastern railway merger situation was further complicated today by an interstate commerce commission ruling that three large trunk lines violated the Clayton anti-trust act in purchasing the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway without commission approval.

Competition between the trunk lines, the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Nickel Plate, has been substantially lessened by the acquisition of the commission said. An order was issued directing the trunk lines to dispose of their Wheeling stock within the next ninety days.

Two of the roads, the B. and O. and Central, recently sold their interest to the Van Sweringen interests who have asked the commission for permission to consolidate the Wheeling with their other properties in a four system plan.

Commenting on reports of the sale, the commission said this transaction could have no weight in the present proceedings. This was taken to mean the Nickel Plate, a Van Sweringen property, would also have to dispose of its Wheeling holdings.

The commission's decision was not a surprise as it had previously issued an anti-trust law complaint against the trunk lines and also refused permission for representatives of the trunk lines to sit as directors on the Wheeling board.

In answering the complaint, the roads contended they did not purchase the Wheeling to lessen competition, but merely as an investment. The trunk lines said they merely wished to hold the Wheeling until its disposition in a general merger plan on a four system basis had been approved by the commission.

IDENTIFY BODY

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—The body of a man found in a Middle-town hotel yesterday, was identified by the state bureau of identification today as that of Thomas Murray, 42, who served a sentence in the Dayton Workhouse for possessing liquor. Murray was sentenced in November, 1927. His record gives his home as Chicago.

LINDBERGH READY TO LEAVE MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 14.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was ready to leave Mexico City for the United States today after nearly three weeks spent visiting his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow.

Lindbergh's departure for Brownsville, Texas, was set for 8:30 a. m. (9:30 a. m. E. S. T.) and it was understood he probably would fly from there to New York.

Lindbergh's route follows the regular air mail route course to Brownsville, which he inaugurated last week, giving him a stop at Tampico.

Nothing more definite of the young flier's marriage plans was known, as he prepared to end his vacation in Mexico, than when he landed here almost without warning and rushed away to Cuernavaca to be with Miss Morrow.

HOOVER OUTLINES DRY PROBE PLANS

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Hoover today took the first step toward organizing his commission of inquiry to investigate law enforcement and judicial reform throughout the nation. In an extended conference with Dean Robert H. Hutchins of the Yale Law School and Prof. Charles E. Clark of the Yale legal faculty, the president outlined the general plan of procedure and the scope of the undertaking he has in mind.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL PLANNED IN COUNTY

JEFFERSON, O., March 14.—A county wide musical festival is in prospect for Ashabula County. This is planned for the third week in April and will include the best singers from the high schools which have musical supervision. There will be two selected from each school to represent the eighth grades. There will be two choruses of sixty voices representing these grades. The four best from the high schools will be selected, which will constitute a chorus of forty voices.

The forenoon of the festival will be devoted to rehearsing and the afternoon will be given to public entertainment. Each group will sing a selection of songs. The festival is the first of its kind to be held in the county.

PRESBYTERIANS FORM MERGER PLAN

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—The Presbyterian church in the United States today issued a statement saying its representatives and those from the Presbyterian church (south) had formulated a plan for merging. The paper embodies six articles providing for the observance of the principles of comity, long recognized by the official actions of both churches. If the plan is approved by both general assemblies, the merger will be carried out, it was understood.

BEAVERCREEK HIGH NEWS

Demonstration

Mr. Carl Merrick, clerk of Beaver Creek Twp., board of education, also a salesman for an oil company, brought to Beaver High an interesting demonstration on gasoline, last Friday.

A Delco-motor was used to perform the experiment.

We are very glad to know that the school will have a new motor to attach to the pump, so that water may be on tap in the school building.

Ken Stewart says he has been playing camel for a long time—in other words he goes three days without water.

Lyceum Course

The fourth number of the Beaver Lyceum course will be given at the K. of P. Hall, Monday, March 18, 1929. It is a play in three acts, entitled "Smilin' Through."

This number promises to be the best given this year, so far.

We are very glad to have Mr. Neff back at school once more after his short absence, due to sickness. We are glad for his speedy recovery and hope he will remain in a good state of health.

Junior Class Play
The junior class play entitled,

"Mail Order Brides," will be given at the K. of P. Hall, March 29, 1929. The cast is as follows: "Pinkey" Butler, "Skeet" Snyder, ranch hands, Paul Karnath and Charles Vanover; Nance Henshaw, Anna Lucklitter; Nick Henshaw, Donald Spahr; Bob Henshaw, Kenneth Stewart; Princess, Indian servant, Annabelle Ferguson; Rose, Crandall, the maid, Charlotte Geisler; Jane Hamilton and Deering Hamilton, visitors from Chicago; Rebecca Shoup and Alfred Wolf; Queenie Dugan, Arabella Jennings, and Gaynell Jones, also of Chicago; Irene Bailey, Grace Fogwell and Georgianna Greene; William Hamilton, Charles Koogler.

The coach of the play is Miss June Thompson, junior English teacher.

Basketball Games

Last Friday evening March 8, three games of basketball were played. The men of the community and the faculty played the first game. The game ended with the faculty winning by a score of 21 to 19.

The women of the community and the lady members of the faculty played an interesting game. The women were victorious but the exact score is not known.

The third game was played by the Hawker Church and Beaver High School boys. The high school boys were victorious the score being 30 to 19. These are the last games of the season for the high school.

Dairy Meeting

Last Monday night, March 11, the dairymen of the community were invited to attend a meeting at Beaver High School. The purpose of this meeting was to help the farmers of this community in becoming better dairymen. The topic of the evening was "Feeding of Dairy Cattle."

They were favored by several selections from the Beaver High School orchestra. Later, refreshments were served, consisting of cookies and cocoa.

Lecture Given

An illustrated lecture was given at the school Thursday for the benefit of the pupils, by Mr. Fenell.

It was given for the purpose of showing the pupils the harmful effects of tobacco.

He back up his lecture he gave the names of many important men who had never used tobacco. Among those he mentioned were Henry Ford, Connie Mack, Abraham Lincoln and Lindbergh.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator offer these vital advantages

THE outstanding merit of the General Electric Refrigerator was universally recognized the very day it was first announced. This refrigerator—the product of fifteen years of intensive research and development—completely revolutionized the art of refrigeration by embodying the following important features:

- ...an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism.
- ...an easily accessible temperature control.
- ...a mechanism that requires no oiling.
- ...all troublesome machinery eliminated.
- ...a new standard of quiet operation.
- ...mounted on legs with broom-room underneath.
- ...no installation problem whatever.
- ...a sanitary, porcelain chilling chamber.
- ...the entire mechanism mounted on top.
- ...absolutely no radio interference.
- ...Maximum food storage space in the cabinet.
- ...an appreciably lower cost of operation.
- ...a radically improved type of cabinet.
- ...an unqualified two-year service guarantee.

These features, tested and proved by thousands of enthusiastic owners have brought an enviable position of leadership to General Electric Refrigerators.

Come in and examine these "years ahead" refrigerators at our display rooms. Let us tell you about our plan of conveniently spaced time payments.

"Etta Kett" Artist Has 25,000 Requests For Paper Dolls

PAUL ROBINSON, artist who draws "Etta Kett," smart comic strip that appears daily in THE GAZETTE, is doing his best at his home in Belleville, N. J., to fill 25,000 requests for "Etta Kett Dolls."

Robinson, in a corner of his comic strip one day, inserted a note saying he would send these dolls to readers who would write in to their home paper. THE GAZETTE forwarded many of these requests to Mr. Robinson and a reply received from him follows in part:

"I have received the requests for Etta Kett paper dolls which your paper forwarded to Central Press. They have been given attention and I hope your youthful readers enjoy them."

"Although Etta Kett is not a comic for juveniles, many children do read it, also there are often children in the home that enjoy it. The response has been amazing! A deluge of twenty-five thousand requests temporarily exhausted our supply."

"All requests for paper dolls will be filled whether or not stamps are sent. If you hear of anyone who failed to be replied to, bear in mind that children are inexperienced letter writers and a few

BURTON APPROVES HOME PROBE: NAMES NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS

Col. Charles V. Burton, superintendent of the O. S. and S. O. Home, announced Thursday that he is thoroughly in accord with an inquiry into conditions at the institution to be made by Col. Carmi Thompson, Cleveland, commissioned for the work last Monday by Governor Cooper.

"It is time that a complete survey was made of the Home in order to obtain first-hand information on the needs of the institution," Col. Burton declared.

The budget for the institution for two years amounts to approximately $1,300,000, including $531,000 for proposed improvements and the remainder for the usual operation and maintenance of the Home.

These improvements are under way or contemplated:

1. Construction of two new cottages at a total cost of $75,000.

2. Installation of a new water system, including the laying of new pipe lines, erection of a new stand-pipe and probable connection with the water mains of the city of Xenia if City Commission gives its consent. At present the Home obtains its drinking water from wells and its water for washing purposes from a creek which flows through the grounds. It is desired to use one grade of water for all purposes instead of two. The total cost would be between $20,000 and $30,000.

3. Erection of a new trades building replacing the present old structure and fitting it up with up-to-date equipment for better educational facilities for the children. A recently purchased printing press would be placed in the new building.

4. Remodeling of all the old cottages now on the grounds built in the 70's and 80's and in need of extensive repairs.

5. Remodeling of the school building to take care of the classification of children and providing the means to give backward or retarded pupils special attention.

6. An addition to the dining room to accommodate extra children and a new kitchen in order that girls may be taught cooking.

7. Re-surfacing of all roads and drives on the grounds and repair of a cement wall surrounding McDowell Lake, which was a gift to the institution. It is also planned to clean out the lake so that the children may use it for swimming.

8. Extension of steam lines from the grade school to the junior high school, abolishing the hot water system of heating.

Col. Burton has not been notified when Col. Thompson expects to commence his survey.

REYNOLDS TO SPEAK BEFORE KIWANIS HERE DURING MONTH

Brigadier General A. W. Reynolds, adjutant-general of Ohio, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address before the Kiwanis Club at the regular dinner-meeting of the local organization Tuesday night, March 26. It is announced that his subject will be "The National Guard and Its Part in the National Defense."

Two of his staff officers, Lt. Col. Wade C. Christy and Lt. Col. Earl Ports, will accompany Gen. Reynolds to Xenia.

The adjutant-general is being brought to Xenia in connection with plans for the construction of a National Guard Armory in this city.

Providing the necessary appropriation for the building is authorized, Gen. Reynolds will come to Xenia to inspect possible sites for the armory.

Captain O. H. Cornwell, commandant of Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, will be a guest of Kiwanians at this meeting.

Fresh Vegetables By the Bottle!

HERE are valuable dietary qualities in vegetables, but not all of us get enough fresh vegetables, a vegetable diet. A simple way to remedy this is to get a little syrup pepsin. Take a spoonful occasionally and you stimulate the inner system. Your keener appetite, and perfect assimilation of whatever you eat will soon show you are on the right track! Your elimination will become more thorough and regular. So, don't give up things you like to eat; or eat a lot of other things because you "ought to." The syrup pepsin can establish that perfect balance without dieting. And how pure syrup pepsin tones the stomach, liver and bowels! You'll soon discover you can eat anything. Your chronic, recurring constipation spells will disappear. A person who will take this simple precaution will go month after month without need of the powerful purges so frequently needed in the past. Try this wonderful vegetable product. Dr. Caldwell first used it in 1875. Today, you cannot name a druggist who hasn't this famous prescription always on hand, all put up, directions enclosed. Nothing is so wonderful for children, too; it is an ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin that just about insures the health of young or old. Adv.

CHIEF JUSTICE IS TAKEN TO TASK

WALDEN, N. Y., March 14.—Ten days after Chief Justice William Howard Taft swore in Herbert Hoover as president a 13-year-old girl has checked up on Taft and discovered that he misquoted the oath of office.

She is Helen Terwilliker, who listened to the inaugural ceremonies on the radio and heard Taft say "preserve, maintain and defend." The constitution reads "preserve, protect and defend."

In a letter to Helen, Taft admitted he had misquoted the text, but not in the way she said he had. He contended he said "preserve, maintain and protect."

"You may attribute the variation to the defect of an old man's memory," the chief justice wrote.

Fresh Vegetables By the Bottle!

HERE are valuable dietary qualities in vegetables but not all of us get enough fresh vegetables, a diet of one soon tires of a "vegetable diet."

A simple way to remedy this is to get a little syrup pepsin. Take a spoonful occasionally and you stimulate the inner system. Your keener appetite, and perfect assimilation of whatever you eat will soon show you are on the right track! Your elimination will become more thorough and regular.

So, don't give up things you like to eat; or eat a lot of other things because you "ought to." The syrup pepsin can establish that perfect balance without dieting. And how pure syrup pepsin tones the stomach, liver and bowels! You'll soon discover you can eat anything. Your chronic, recurring constipation spells will disappear.

A person who will take this simple precaution will go month after month without need of the powerful purges so frequently needed in the past.

Try this wonderful vegetable product. Dr. Caldwell first used it in 1875. Today, you cannot name a druggist who hasn't this famous prescription always on hand, all put up, directions enclosed. Nothing is so wonderful for children, too; it is an ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin that just about insures the health of young or old.

Stops Stubborn Coughs Quickly

No cough so stubborn, so deep-seated, but yields to the healing demulcent virtues of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. For stubborn, rasping coughs, hold the dose low in the throat for a time before swallowing. Its accurate blend of pure pine tar and fresh laxative honey with other valuable medicinal ingredients is wonderfully healing to the cold-infected surfaces, and easily raises irritating phlegm. Bronchial "flu" and troublesome night coughs quickly stopped. Ask your druggist. Sold everywhere.

DRY CLEANING THAT SATISFIES

Materials light in color are easily soiled. If you use or drive a car, spots are gathered in a number of ways and the dress is out of commission for the time being. BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE OMNIPOTENT—Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh: is there anything too hard for me?—Jeremiah 32:27.

AWAKENING FROM DROWSY ERA

Picturesque old Spain, after drowsing in the sun through the recent generations while the rest of the world moved on, has at last awakened with a start and begun spectacular bidding for the attention of the world's—particularly America's—traders and tourists.

Plans for two great expositions, one at Seville, the other at Barcelona, which will open this spring, representing between them the outlay of $100,000,000, are broadcast to the world.

So determined is Seville to regain its position as a city of the world and to recoup for Spain her dwindling prestige in trade with the Americans, north and south, that $20,000,000 has been invested to open a 60-mile canal route down the Guadalquivir to the sea, thus permitting ocean liners to steam direct ly up to the city itself for the first time. And to inaugurate this new river-canal, Spain has prepared the colorful Ibero-American Exposition to which the peoples of North and South America particularly are invited.

The exposition will even be permanent in the sense that the palatial buildings and parks, representative of the best Moorish and Spanish tradition, will be preserved and attached to the famous university at Seville.

At Barcelona the International Exposition of Arts, Industry and Commerce will be even more elaborate in its effort to focus the world's eye on Spanish industry and commercial opportunities.

This is another indication of the way the Old World is being awakened and inspired by the achievements of America.

"LAME DUCK" SESSIONS

The short or "lame duck" session of congress is so little noted for legislative achievement that periodically the wisdom of perpetuating it is challenged. The last session of the seventieth congress was no exception to this rule of futility. Only three matters of first-class importance were disposed of in three months. These were the Boulder Dam and cruiser bills and the anti-war pact and the first two of these measures were ready for the senate when the session opened. They should have been dealt with in a fraction of the time that was wasted on them. The anti-war pact was eventually ratified with a single dissenting vote; but days had to be wasted in bitter dispute that did the treaty far more harm than good.

While the senate was wrangling over pacifism and prohibition, without producing anything but words, a bill to reappropriation the house was allowed to die, along with the 1930 census bill. That was the crying shame of the session although, if congress had been so disposed, a farm relief program might easily have been enacted, with such changes in the tariff as were needed to assist agriculture. This would have made it unnecessary to tax the country for a special session. As it is, a special session must be called to do what the short session could have done but refused to do. That is the sort of thing that strengthens popular conviction that it would be a good deal better for the country if the time between the election and the inauguration of the president were shortened and the new congress were called together and organized in time to do what the last session of the old congress ought to do, but so seldom does.

Your BROADWAY
By Walter Winchell And Mine

NEW YORK.—There is small talk bandied in the various Broadway meeting places to the effect that many of the legit playhouses are to be "sold down the river" to the sound flicker manufacturers. In fact, declare those allegedly "in the know," 25 of the better class temples of amusement have negotiated with the film magnates and by next season, it is feared, most of the theaters will have been wired and prepared to furnish "talkies."

ALL DEPENDS ON THE PLAY

And in changing the subject let it be recorded herewith that "Old Man Shamp" asserted himself along the Fourflushing Forties last week. Most of the second-rate plays started hollering Uncle again, but the better shows enticed handsome trade. A good law for Mr. Whalen to make, we think, would be to arrest those sponsors of pieces that do not please the critics and thus lessen the congestion between 42d and 59th streets. If Mr. Whalen will communicate with this bureau, a long list of second-rate play producers will be furnished. Better than that, perhaps, would be for Mr. Whalen to inspect Mr. Leblang's chart of half-priced shows, which is enough testimony to the number of poor pieces in the town.

WORKING AND EARNING

Figures from a typical American city that more men are now employed than ever before in the history of the city. Wages since the World war, have gone up faster the cost of living, though for many that seems hard to believe. There are always exceptions. In certain lines the cost of living has kept ahead of the rise in wages. But take as a whole, the worker receives $2.31 today for every dollar he received before the war. He pays about $1.65 for what used to cost a dollar. Compared with England, both wages and the amount of work make us appear to be living in a paradise. But it might be said we have 100 temptations to spend money that the average worker abroad does not have. We live in a motor owning, telephone using, radio running, installment paying country.

THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

It is a comfort to find a man who is willing to walk in the middle of the road and to be known for what and who he is. Most of us seek constantly to have people keep opinions of us that are not in accordance with the facts. We may like to be thought rich when we are not rich. Or we like to be thought poor when we are rich. We like to be thought "dicks" when secretly we are "wets." We pretend to believe in prohibition when we are of the opinion that prohibition is a national and moral mistake. We boast that we never deal with bootleggers, but we are willing to accept what others buy of bootleggers. We make silly distinctions, thereby trying to whitewash our personal behavior. We say, "ordinarily I don't do this sort of thing, but I will this once," when, if we were simply honest, we would say that we always do this sort of thing if we think we can get away with it. So goes life with its foolish, self-deceptive distinctions and "exceptions." The middle of the road, to be a comfortable and simple path. Most of us are afraid of it.

WHAT DOES HE WANT?

When a man seeks office, whether he wants to be councilman or congressman, United States senator or cabinet member, what is it that he really wants? Of course he tells you it is his overwhelming desire to serve his country and his fellow man. Probably the thing he wants most is a box seat in life, where he can be seen by others. He wants to be somebody in a large and distinctive way. Nothing shameful in this ambition, though it is rarely confessed. A man loving notoriety and publicity is a common type called a "grandstander." It has been said there are two kinds of people—grandstanders and those who are not. Probably there is no such line of difference. There are grandstanders who admit they are, and grandstanders who pretend they are not.

PASSAGE OF REAPPORTIONMENT BILL PREDICTED

BY JAMES E. WATSON

Senator from Indiana, (James E. Watson was born at Winchester, Ind., Nov. 2, 1864. He is a graduate of De Pauw university. Admitted to the bar in 1887, he began practicing law with his father, moving to Rushville six years later. He was elected to congress in 1895, serving until 1909 with the exception of one term. In 1908 he was the Republican nominee for governor of Indiana. He was sent to the United States senate in 1916, his last term expiring in 1933. He has been a delegate to the Republican national convention three times.)

I expect a new census and reapportionment bill to be brought into the senate the first week of the extra session and I expect it to pass. Every effort that the Republican leadership in the senate and house can give to this belated validation of the constitution will be provided. These assurances were given to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, who was in charge of the last bill, before he withdrew the measure in the closing days of the regular session in order to permit the great supply appropriations of the government to break through the filibuster against reapportionment.

The assurances were given in good faith and will be sustained accordingly. Senator Vandenberg made a game fight in the last session against insurmountable odds. As a result, he succeeded in emphasizing the issue to a degree which prophesies early results. He could have held this bill before the senate to the end of the final week of the recent session and thus defied the filibuster against it.

But he could not have passed the bill. It was physically impossible. He merely could have caused the defeat of the supply bills. These in turn would have had to go over to the extra session where they would have again been filibustered. Reapportionment, however, is a matter of the extra session. The extra session for reapportionment itself, and it took more courage to make this decision than to have blundered into a futile impasse.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Among the many adjustments which spring requires you to make—why is it that each season has its own share—are those which concern closely your skin and hair. Somehow, without our knowing it, their natural conditions undergo a change. As if the season were working in us to prove to those of us who boast of independence how much we are a part of her great plan.

Your hair drops out a little in the spring and new hair comes to replace it. All this, of course, is scarcely noticeable. But in the process your hair may look dull and lifeless or oily and overworked, not quite up to its healthy, shining best.

And in the spring your skin shows signs of scaliness. It flakes off as if you were shedding the outer layers. As, indeed you are constantly. But at this season it is often more apparent. So you are given another chance all around. New hair, new skin, new beauty. How much they deserve your kindest encouragement and care! What care will you give them?

First, general health care. The hygienic measures which apply to the welfare of your whole body—exercise, sunlight, sleep, fresh air, the right food, etc.—will help your skin and hair to health. And the loveliness of both depends, for one thing, upon good circulation. The bringing up of the blood to nourish and tone them.

Massage and brush your hair often as you have time, certainly each day, and especially well before each shampoo. Massage with the cushioned tips of your fingers and work with a rotary motion all over your head. Lift and press from the base of your scalp around to your ears and the crown of your head, lightly, firmly, your fingers firmly planted and the scalp moving upon the skull. In front, massage up from your forehead, working back toward the crown, so as not to counteract any downward pull on the impressionable facial muscles.

And brush your hair every night, at least while the spring lasts. If you do it that long, you will afterward, because the hair becomes delightful. Part your hair in strands of it is long, and brush each part separately. Use military brushes or hold your brush as you would a military brush, by the top, not by the handle.

Use a long, lifting movement, brushing in steady strokes from the scalp to the very ends of the hair. After you finish your hair, brush, rub a little tonic or hair pomade, rich in nourishing fats, and massage again at the temples, where the hair first begins to grow thin. Unless you are going to shampoo. In that case apply hot olive or medicated oil and continue to brush or massage for ten or fifteen minutes.

The proper way to shampoo is to use a liquid shampoo, rubbing it in a little at a time, when your hair has been thoroughly wet and rinse off with a spray of soft, warm water. Hair should be soaped and rinsed three times, and completely rinsed three times more. Then dried in the sun or by fanning and rubbing with soft warm towels.

So much for the hair. For the skin proper cleansing and stimulating is equally important. Especially stimulation is necessary for the sluggish skin in the spring. Use liquid tonic stimulants after your cleansing cream and before your nourishing massage. These will bring up your circulation to prepare the skin for the feeding which is to follow.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover is the most unassuming, modest, individually self-effacing president Washington has seen in recent times—perhaps the most so of any president since Lincoln.

Certainly no president ever was freer from official airs—that would be impossible. Mr. Hoover simply is without any such ostentatious whatever.

Mr. Coolidge was not a bit puffed up on his own account, but he was conscious of the deference which he evidently considered his position entitled to.

Mr. Hoover appears to shrink from any form of special recognition of himself or his office. If he has occasion to mix with the throng in his ante-chamber he actually is in the midst of his guests before they are fully aware of his presence there.

His informality is obviously trying to the White House staff's sense of the proprieties. There was an illustration of it the very afternoon after the inauguration ceremonies. The outer office at the executive mansion was filled with callers, lounging comfortably on chairs and tables, most with hats on, smoking and chatting as casually as in a hotel lobby.

Suddenly, "Gentlemen, the president," called Secretary George Akerson, excitedly.

Too late, Mr. Hoover already was on the scene, bound for the open air to have his picture shot, with a visiting delegation. A smile and a nod from him and he was outside. Not a soul had risen. Not a hat was doffed. Not a cigar puff was omitted. It was too rapid. The roomful of guests stared blankly at the president, a good deal embarrassed. Presently back he came, the same way—not only implying, no wish for a demonstration, but rather conspicuously trying to be quick enough to escape one.

Some people believe all this is because Mr. Hoover wants to avoid being known as a personality—wants, instead, to be regarded as an abstraction—a symbol of government.

However, he did not behave so at the first interview he granted to the Washington correspondents—this, too, was the day after his inauguration.

On the contrary, he was thoroughly human again—and very likeable. There was one while, it should be said, when Mr. Hoover astounded the correspondents, and scared them badly.

They were astonished because, as secretary of commerce, they always found him extremely approachable and friendly. Following his return from Florida, he seemed a different being. Shut up in his S street home, he was as inaccessible as the grand lama of Tibet.

The correspondents were scared because a president who is too high and mighty to meet the newspaper folk presents a grave journalistic problem.

It was this that they feared—a new Mr. Hoover.

It caused a deal of gossip in newspaper circles—even in congress.

At his initial press reception Mr. Hoover allayed all such anxiety.

His explanation was as logical as any chronicler could have asked—maybe we should have thought of it earlier—his inability to speak for publication, as president-elect, with President Coolidge still in office, as responsible head of the government.

As president himself Mr. Hoover is the original Mr. Hoover once more.

Indeed, his assurance that he intends not only to continue the White House "press conference" but to amplify them, was more than the writing fraternity had hoped for.

If, on the one hand, there is nothing awe-inspiring about Mr. Hoover as president, neither, on the other hand, does he show the least sign of being bowed down under the weight of responsibility. He plainly considers himself fully competent to handle the tasks ahead of him—cool and collected—at ease behind the executive desk and at home in the White House. He fits naturally into his environment.

His features are somewhat crudely carved, as his pictures show, with a powerful jaw, a bulging forehead and a face compacted together between them.

There is in fact, but to speak homely, a smile very readily, with a peculiar sweetness, like the early morning's smile with a hint in it of an appeal for good will.

The new president is soft-spoken but his remarks' quality is managerial.

They are the remarks of a man who means to run things—to do it pleasantly if possible, but to do it, anyway.

It is not permissible to cuss the president, but in a general way, what our latest chief executive has to relate more to the individual American's duties than to such rights as he may claim to liberty, not to mention the pursuit of happiness.

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D. AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR CHILDREN"

Answers to Mothers

God could not be everywhere: therefore He made mothers—Jewish Proverb.

"My little girl is eight years old and weighs over 100 pounds. She is tall and large-framed. She is a very healthy, happy and busy child, and a good eater of all foods. I have Peterized myself and lost 85 pounds, so I know how to balance the diet, etc., and fee that my little girl is rightly fed. She had her tonsils and adenoids removed when about three years old and has gained flesh since. Some hint at thyroid trouble. Do you think I have to fear that and to have her examined for it? Should she have swimming, skating and dancing, or would you let it go with just the regular exercises?"

"ANXIOUS MOTHER."

Your little girl is probably overweight for the same reason that you were overweight. Mother, and that she is overeating for her needs. Yes, she should have swimming, skating and dancing, if she can, and increase her other physical exercises, too. Of course, it is always wise to have a check-up by a physician, occasionally, whether there is any symptom of disease or not, so I would have her examined. With your experience in reducing your own weight, you will know how to reduce hers.

It is important for a fat child to have her weight reduced, for overweight, as well as underweight, makes children more susceptible to diseases. Besides, the fat child is at a disadvantage with her playmates and may be made unhappy from their jokes.

It is very important in reducing children's weight that only candies and other sweets, starches and fats are limited, for the full quota of growth foods should be taken every day. The reducing pamphlet gives directions which may be applied to children.

Strut Gravitation

"Since the birth of my baby, I was left with whitish lines on my abdomen. Will these marks ever disappear?"

MRS. C.

Those lines are known as striae gravidarum. (true means lines of) striae, and gravidarum means pregnant.) They are due to stretching of the skin and thinning out of the under layer, with the formation of scar tissue. Once they have appeared, they will always remain.

These striae may appear after any great stretching of the skin—in heavy, pendulous breasts, for instance, from overweight, or from a large tumor.

Striae gravidarum can largely be prevented, according to McPheters, by persistent daily massage of the abdomen, around the second or third month of pregnancy, with some lubricant, such as cocoa butter or oil. (It is the massage that is effective.) Then the abdominal wall should be supported by a properly fitting support. It must not be tight, however, for wearing tight supports predisposes to the weakness of the abdominal wall.

Exercise of the trunk muscles, especially those that are taken lying on the back—by raising the legs, or the body—and walking on all fours, also strengthens the wall and helps to make an easier labor. Obstetricians are now having the patients, by being active two days after labor, while the patient is still in bed. These are continued after the patient gets up, and are increased. They not only help prevent the relaxation of the abdominal wall, but they help the uterus to go down to its normal size and keep it in its normal position.

We have an article on abdominal exercises.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles are now being accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a young married woman with two adorable children, one girl and a boy. Am 27 years old, and have been married ten years. I have a nice husband at times. He seems to think a lot of his family, and then he goes out of an evening and comes back mad, calls me vile names and says he wants me to leave the house. Now Mrs. Lee, I never go to shows or anywhere without I ask him to go along, then he says why do you want to go out? Then I give up, and he goes by himself. Now, Mrs. Lee, I am a rather good looking woman, but don't have many nice things for myself or my home, but I do the best I can with what I have. I try to be nice to everyone. I have a good many friends, but don't seem to attract my husband any more. So please give me some advice, as I love him dearly and there is no other, nor ever was. BLUE EYES."

According to your letter you are doing all that can be humanly expected. The only advice I have to offer is not to take yourself too seriously, and tell your husband too seriously. When he gets home, you are going to tell him who he thinks will keep house for him and take care of the children for no spending money, and few clothes or amusements. Tell him housekeepers are paid fancy prices these days, have days off, short hours and are catered to considerably. So if he does not like his job, you could easily get another job that would pay you more in money while he would have a sweet time filling your place. Go to a show once in awhile as your right. Be good natured and keep a sense of humor and realize that you are wonderfully well off with a husband you love and two "adorable children."

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in great need of help. I am a girl 18 and am in high school. I am in love with a boy whom my parents will not allow me to talk to. I have been going with him secretly for a year. My parents seem to think that a decent boy will not come from another town to see a girl. Do you think so? Should an 18-year-old girl ask her parents when she can go on a date? At what time should she be home? Thanks, a lot. "JACQUELINE."

As long as a girl lives at home and is dependent on her parents she should defer to them, don't you think so? I can't say I think much of a young man who will go with a girl secretly, if he has made no effort to get her parents to like and trust him to come to her home. A girl of 18 in school should be in by ten any school night, but is usually allowed to stay out later Friday or Saturday night. She must settle such matters with her parents, however.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a girl 14 years old and am living with my grandparents. There are boys that want to keep company with me, but my grandparents won't allow it. I think I'm all right. Please give me some advice. Do you think I am too young? "DAISY."

I think you are young enough to do as your grandparents say at present, Daisy. Show them you are trustworthy, and when you are a little older they will undoubtedly let you have boy friends.

STYLE WHIMSIES
One side of everyone's face is prettier than the other. The latest idea in millinery is to hide the less attractive side with ribbon draperies.

When in doubt, wear white. This is the safest rule to follow in ensembling gloves for unusual costume shades and color contrasts.

Even your traveling costume may be a night shade in these colorful days.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHO'S WHO!
All this while Peter was telling him he knew, Sir Drake had said he didn't.

He had floated very close to the bank and now the bird noticed that the bird was gazing at him intently with a queer expression that Peter could not quite make out. Somehow he felt as though Drake wanted very much to laugh at him. At last the bird spoke in a husky voice that appeared to shake a little.

"Do you think that what you have told me is anything to be proud of, boy?" asked Drake, solemnly.

"If I were you I should feel mighty ashamed of myself for spying into the privacy of perfect strangers and here you are bragging about it! There is one thing sure—if ever I had done such a sneaky thing no one but myself ever knew it. I would not go round telling about it."

"Strange what rude creatures the Two-Legs are! Stranger still how much better than we birds they think themselves! Why, they never lose an opportunity to make this miserable or ugly thing possible, as if it wasn't hard enough for us life is."

"I don't believe any other face in the world, unless perhaps it is the insects, run such risks and are surrounded with such dangers as we are birds!

"Even the rains and the winds become our worst enemies at a moment's notice! But, then, none other knows such joys as we do birds. We have wings to fly where we will in the air, feet to walk on the earth when we are weary of cloudland and we have birds with the webbed feet, are the happiest of all, for we can make merry with the waves whenever we wish, and we wish to most of the time."

"No land for me or mine when there is water at hand."

"So you think you know all about me, do you, Two-Legs? Well, let me tell you right now that you have never set eyes on me before today in any of your life, and for a very good reason."

"This is the first time I have ever been in this part of the country, and I am not going to stay here long, either. Soon my wife and children will join me. I expect them almost any time—and then together we'll shall fly to the sea."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE OMNIPOTENT—Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh: is there anything too hard for me?—Jeremiah 32:27.

AWAKENING FROM DROWSY ERA

Picturesque old Spain, after drowsing in the sun through the recent generations while the rest of the world moved on, has at last awakened with a start and begun spectacular bidding for the attention of the world's—particularly America's—traders and tourists.

Plans for two great expositions, one at Seville, the other at Barcelona, which will open this spring, representing between them the outlay of $100,000,000, are broadcast to the world.

So determined is Seville to regain its position as a city of the world and to recoup for Spain her dwindling prestige in trade with the Americans, north and south, that $20,000,000 has been invested to open a 60-mile canal route down the Guadalquivir to the sea, thus permitting ocean liners to steam directly up to the city itself for the first time. And to inaugurate this new river-canal, Spain has prepared the colorful Ibero-American Exposition to which the peoples of North and South America particularly are invited.

The exposition will even be permanent in the sense that the palatial buildings and parks, representative of the best Moorish and Spanish tradition, will be preserved and attached to the famous university at Seville.

At Barcelona the International Exposition of Arts, Industry and Commerce will be even more elaborate in its effort to focus the world's eye on Spanish industry and commercial opportunities.

This is another indication of the way the Old World is being awakened and inspired by the achievements of America.

"LAME DUCK" SESSIONS

The short or "lame duck" session of congress is so little noted for legislative achievement that periodically the wisdom of perpetuating it is challenged. The last session of the seventieth congress was no exception to this rule of futility. Only three matters of first-class importance were disposed of in three months. These were the Boulder Dam and cruiser bills and the anti-war pact and the first two of these measures were ready for the senate when the session opened. They should have been dealt with in a fraction of the time that was wasted on them. The anti-war pact was eventually ratified with a single dissenting vote; but days had to be wasted in bitter dispute that did the treaty far more harm than good.

While the senate was wrangling over pacifism and prohibition, without producing anything but words, a bill to reappropriation the house was allowed to die, along with the 1930 census bill. That was the crying shame of the session although, if congress had been so disposed, a farm relief program might easily have been enacted, with such changes in the tariff as were needed to assist agriculture. This would have made it unnecessary to tax the country for a special session. As it is, a special session must be called to do what the short session could have done but refused to do. That is the sort of thing that strengthens popular conviction that it would be a good deal better for the country if the time between the election and the inauguration of the president were shortened and the new congress were called together and organized in time to do what the last session of the old congress ought to do, but so seldom does.

Your BROADWAY

By Walter Winchell And Mine

NEW YORK.—There is small talk banded in the various Broadway meeting places to the effect that many of the legit playhouses are to be "sold down the river" to the sound flicker manufacturers. In fact, declare those allegedly "in the know," 25 of the better class temples of amusement have negotiated with the film magnates and by next season, it is feared, most of the theaters will have been wired and prepared to furnish "talkies."

ALL DEPENDS ON THE PLAY And in changing the subject let it be recorded herewith that "Old Man Slump" asserted himself along the Fourflushing Forties last week. Most of the second-rate plays started hollering Uncle again, but the better shows cutied handsome trade. A good law for Mr. Whalen to make, we think, would be to arrest those sponsors of pieces that do not please the critics and thus lessen the congestion between 42d and 59th streets. If Mr. Whalen will communicate with this bureau, a long list of second-rate plays, better than that, perhaps, would be for Mr. Whalen to inspect Mr. Leblang's chart of half-priced shows, which is enough testimony to the number of poor pieces in the town.

HAW! The New Yorker extends its professional sympathy to the editor of the New York Evening Journal in the matter of the little story he printed about the mayor of Hempstead, L. I. His Hempstead correspondent, the other day telephoned in the facts about a theft out there. The mayor had been attending a movie show and while in the theater his toupee was stolen. He was pretty indignant and was threatening to fire his whole police force if they didn't recover his property.

These facts were turned over to a writer in the office, who made quite an amusing story of it—how his honor had suddenly turned out baldheaded and the audience had tittered. They were still chuckling about the story in the office next day when the mayor of Hempstead himself telephoned, indignant, and demanding retractions and apologies. He wore his own hair, he said, and was, in fact, proud of it.

What really had been stolen was his coupe.

AMONG OTHER THINGS Helen Morgan, the actress, is one of the very few charmers (if not the only one) who never wears jewelry. No necklace, ring, brooch or ornament decorates her person, and when she was asked why, she said: "I used to wear a love altar, a cunning thing that I adored. It was no significance to it whatsoever. I was merely fond of it—it was so different. I lost it a year ago."

She asserted, too, that countless friends and admirers frequently offer her a gift of jewelry, but she warns them that she will sell it and invest the currency in bonds.

Miss Morgan, it might be added, is simply crummy with gold certificates or stock and other valuable papers.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

WORKING AND EARNING

Figures from a typical American city that more men are now employed than ever before in the history of the city. Wages, since the World War, have gone up faster than the cost of living, though for many that seems hard to believe. There are always exceptions. In certain lines the cost of living has kept ahead of the rise in wages. But take the whole worker receives $2.31 today for every dollar he received before the war. He pays about $1.65 for what used to cost a dollar. Compared with England both wages and the amount of work make us appear to be living in a paradise. But it might be said we have 100 temptations to spend money that the average worker abroad does not have. We live in a motor owning, telephone using, radio running, installment paying country.

THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

It is a comfort to find a man who is willing to walk in the middle of the road and to be known for what and who he is. Most of us seek constantly to have people keep opinions of us that are not in accordance with the facts. We may like to be thought rich when we are not rich. Or we like to be thought poor when we are rich. We like to be thought "drys" when secretly we are "wets." We pretend to believe in prohibition when we are of the opinion that prohibition is a national and moral mistake. We boast that we never deal with bootleggers, but we are willing to accept what others buy of bootleggers. We make silly distinctions, thereby trying to whitewash our personal behavior. We say, "ordinarily I don't do this sort of thing, but I will this once," when, if we were simply honest, we would say that we always do this sort of thing if we think we can get away with it. So goes life with its foolish, self-deceptive distinctions and "exceptions." The middle of the road, to be seen as we are, ought to be a comfortable and simple path. Most of us are afraid of it.

WHAT DOES HE WANT?

When a man seeks office, whether he wants to be a congressman or senator, or cabinet member, what is it that he really wants? Of course he tells you it is his overwhelming desire to serve his country and his fellow man. Probably the thing he wants most is a box seat in life, where he can be seen by others. He wants to be somebody in a large and distinctive way. Nothing shameful in this ambition, though it is rarely confessed.

A man loving notice and publicity is sometimes called a "grandstander." It has been said there are two kinds of people—grandstanders and those who are not. Probably there is no such line of difference. There are grandstanders who admit they are, and grandstanders who pretend they are not.

PASSAGE OF REAPPORTMENT BILL PREDICTED By JAMES E. WATSON

Senator from Indiana. (James E. Watson was born at Winchester, Ind., Nov. 2, 1864. He is a graduate of DePauw university. Admitted to the bar in 1887, he began practicing law with his father, moving to Rushville six years later. He was elected to congress in 1895, serving until 1909 with the exception of one term. In 1908 he was the Republican nominee for governor of Indiana. He was sent to the United States senate in 1916, his last term expiring in 1933. He has been a delegate to the Republican national convention three times.)

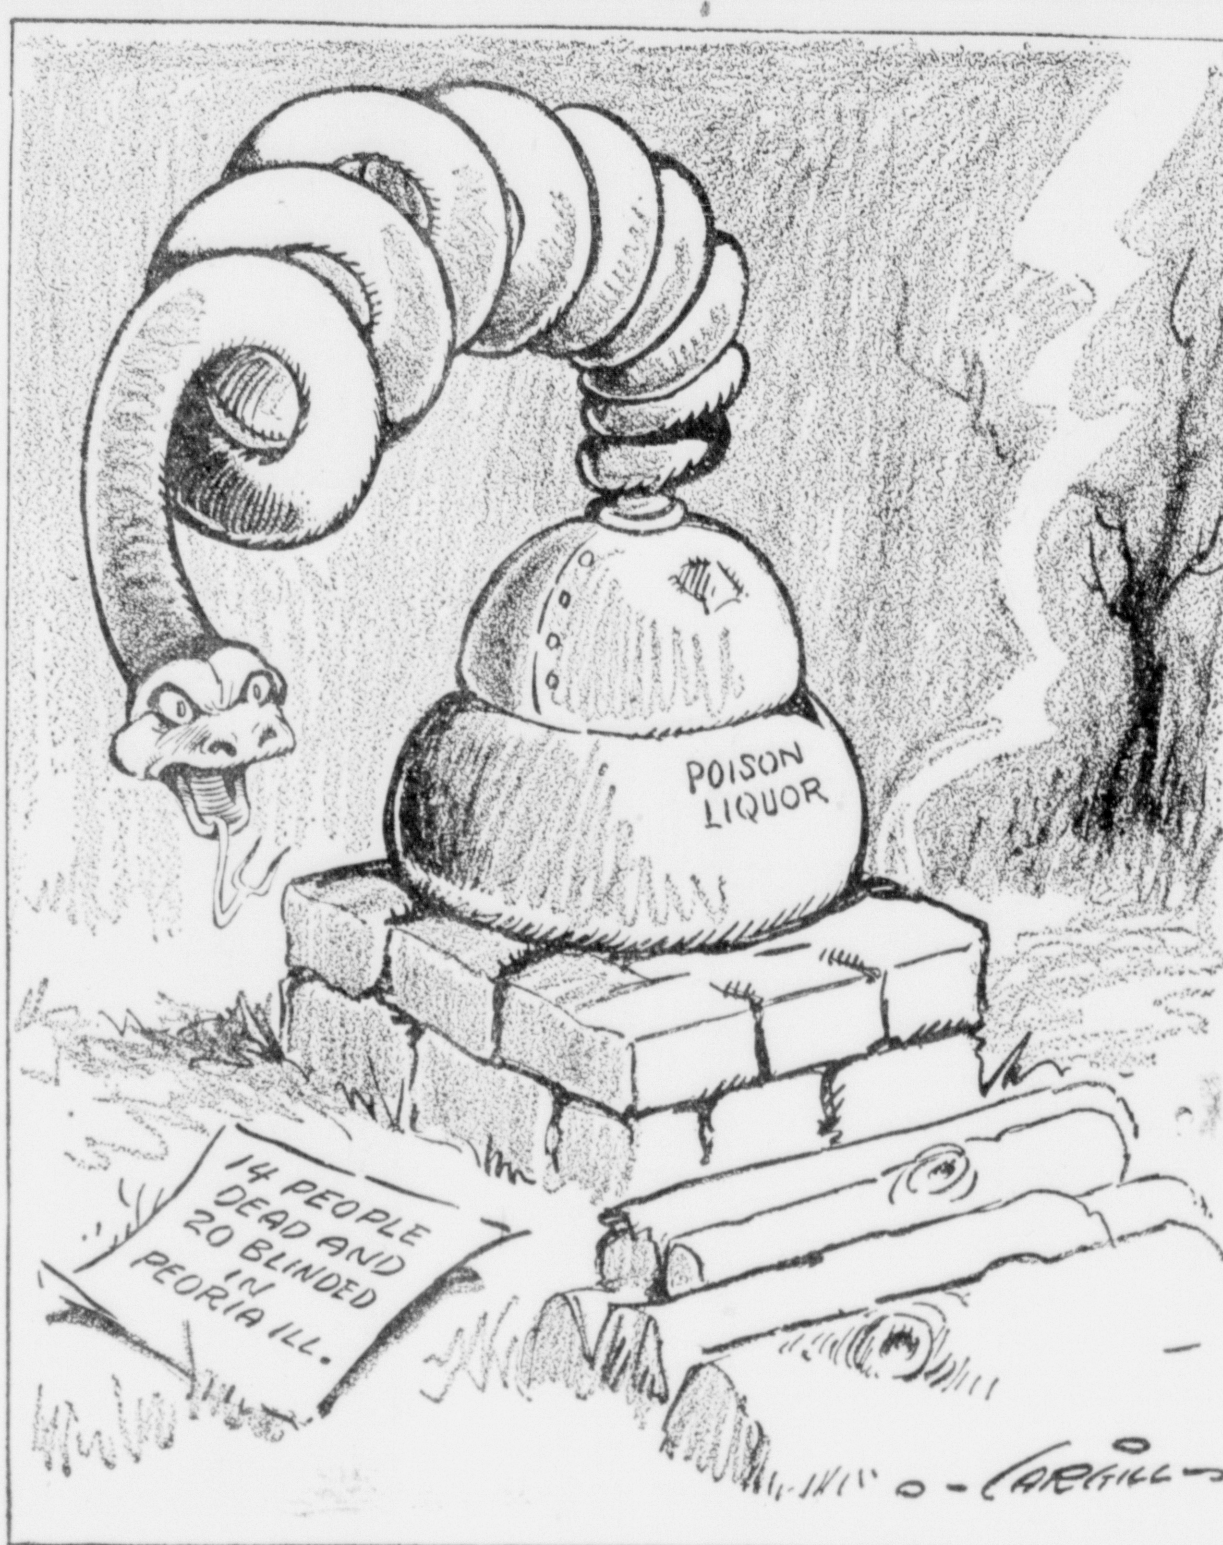

I expect a new census and reapportionment bill will be brought into the senate the first week of the extra session and I expect it to pass. Every effort that the Republican leadership in the senate and house can give to this belated validation of the constitution will be provided.

These assurances were given to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, who was in charge of the last bill, before he withdrew the measure in the closing days of the regular session in order to permit the great supply appropriations of the government to break through the filibuster against reapportionment.

The assurances were given in good faith and will be sustained accordingly. Senator Vandenberg made a game fight in the last session against insurmountable odds. As a result, he succeeded in emphasizing the issue to a degree which prophesies early results. He could have held this bill before the senate to the end of the final week of the recent session and thus defied the filibuster against it.

But he could not have passed the bill. It was physically impossible. He merely could have caused the defeat of the supply bills. These in turn would have had to go over to the extra session where they would have again shown wisdom in accepting a preferred status in the extra session for reapportionment itself; and it took more courage to make this decision than to have blundered into a futile impasse.

THE COPPERHEAD

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Among the many adjustments which spring requires you to make—why is it that each season has its own share?—are those which concern closely your skin and hair. Somehow, without our knowing it, their natural conditions undergo a change. As if the season were working in us to prove to those of us who boast of independence how much we are a part of her great plan.

Your hair drops out a little in the spring and new hair comes to replace it. All this, of course, is scarcely noticeable. But in the process your hair may look dull and lifeless or oily and overworked, not quite up to its healthy shining best.

And in the spring your skin shows signs of scaliness. It flakes off as if you were shedding the outer layers. As, indeed you are constantly. But at this season it is often more apparent. So you are given another chance all around. New hair, new skin, new beauty. How much they deserve your kindest encouragement and care! What care will you give them?

First, general health care. The hygienic measures which apply to the welfare of your whole body—exercise, sunlight, sleep, fresh air, the right food, etc.—will help your skin and hair to health. And the loveliness of both depends, for one thing, upon good circulation. The bringing up of the blood to nourish and tone them.

Massage and brush your hair often as you have time, certainly each day, and especially well before each shampoo. Massage with the cushioned tips of your fingers and work with a rotary motion all over your head. Lift and press from the base of your scalp around to your ears and the crown of your head, lightly, firmly, your fingers firmly planted on the scalp moving upon the skull. In front, massage up from your forehead, working back toward the crown, so as not to counteract any downward pull on the impressionable facial muscles.

And brush your hair every night, at least while the spring lasts. If you do that long, you will afterward, because the habit becomes delightful. Part your hair in strands of it is long, and brush each part separately. Use military brushes or hold your brush as you would a military brush by the top, not by the handle.

Use a long, lifting movement, brushing in steady strokes from the scalp to the very ends of the hair. After you finish your brushing, rub a little tonic or hair pomade, rich in nourishing fats, and massage again at the temples, where the hair first begins to grow thin. Unless you are going to shampoo. In that case apply hot olive or medicated oil and continue to brush or massage for ten or fifteen minutes.

The proper way to shampoo is to use a liquid shampoo, rubbing it in a little at a time, when your hair has been thoroughly wet and rinse off with a spray of soft, warm water. Hair should be soaped and rinsed three times more. Then dried in the sun or by fanning and rubbing with soft warm towels.

Use much for the hair. For the skin proper cleansing and stimulating is equally important. Especially stimulation is necessary for the sluggish skin in the spring. Use liquid tonic stimulants after your cleansing cream and before your nourishing massage. These will bring up your circulation to prepare the skin for the feeding which is to follow.

Washington—Herbert Hoover is the most unassuming, modest, individually self-effacing president Washington has seen in recent times—perhaps the most so of any president the country ever had. Certainly no president over so free from official airs—that would be impossible. Mr. Hoover simply is without any such ostentatious trappings.

Mr. Hoover appears to shrink from any form of special recognition of himself or his office. If he has occasion to mix with the throng in his ante-chamber he actually is in the midst of his guests before they are fairly aware of his presence there.

His informality is obviously trying to the White House staff's sense of the proprieties.

There was an illustration of the very afternoon after the inauguration ceremonies. The outer be said, when Mr. Hoover astonished the correspondents, and scared them badly.

They were astonished because, as secretaries of commerce, they always found him extremely approachable and friendly. Following his return from Florida, he seemed a different being. Shut up in his S street home, he was as inaccessible as the grand lama of Tibet.

The correspondents were scared because a president who is too high and mighty to meet the newspaper folk presents a grave journalistic problem.

It was this that they feared—a new Mr. Hoover.

It caused a deal of gossip in newspaper circles—even in congress.

At his initial press reception Mr. Hoover allayed all such anxiety.

His explanation was as logical as any chronicler could have asked—maybe we should have thought of it earlier—His inability to speak for publication, as president-elect, with President Coolidge still in office, as responsible head of the government.

As president himself Mr. Hoover is the original Mr. Hoover more.

Indeed, his assurance that he intends not only to continue the White House "press conference" but to amplify them, was more than the writing fraternity had hoped for.

If, on the one hand, there is nothing awe-inspiring about Mr. Hoover as president, neither, on the other hand, does he show the least sign of being bowed down under the weight of responsibility.

He plainly considers himself fully competent to handle the tasks ahead of him—cool and collected—at ease behind the executive desk and at home in the White House. He fits naturally into his environment.

There is little in him to hint at the stern national boss.

His features are somewhat crudely carved, as his pictures show, with a powerful jaw, a bulging forehead and a face compacted together between them—flattened at the poles, so to speak—homely, in fact, but amiable.

He smiles very readily, with a peculiar sweetness, like the early morning—a smile with a hint in it of an appeal for good will.

The new president is soft-spoken but his remarks' quality is managerial.

They are the remarks of a man who means to run things—to do it pleasantly if possible, but to do it, anyway.

It is not permissible to cunctate the president, but, in a general way, what our latest chief executive talks about relates more to the individual American's duties than to such rights as he may claim to liberty, not to mention the pursuit of happiness.

Two late, Mr. Hoover already was on the scene, bound for two open air to have his picture shot with a visiting delegation. A smile and a nod from him and he was outside. Not a soul had risen. Not a hat was doffed. Not a cigarette puff was omitted. It was too rapid. The roomful merely stared blankly at the president, a good deal embarrassed. Presently back he came, the same way—not only implying no wish for a demonstration, but rather conspicuously trying to be quick enough to escape one.

Some people believe all this is because Mr. Hoover wants to avoid being known as a personality—wants, instead, to be regarded as an abstraction—a symbol of government.

However, he did not behave so at the first interview he granted to the Washington correspondents—this, too, was the day after his inauguration.

On the contrary, he was thoroughly human again—and very likeable.

There was one while, it should

Diet and Health

BY LUU HUNT PETERS, M.D., AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR CHILDREN"

Answers to Mothers
God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers—Jewish Proverb.

"My little girl is eight years old and weighs over 100 pounds. She is tall and large-framed. She is a very healthy, happy and busy child, and a good eater of all foods. I have Peterized myself and lost 85 pounds, so I know how to balance the diet, etc., and see that my little girl is rightly fed. She had her tonsils and adenoids removed when about three years old and has gained flesh since. Some hint at thyroid trouble. Do you think I have to feed that and to have her examined for it? Should she have swimming, skating and dancing, or would you let it go with just the regular exercises?"

"ANXIOUS MOTHER."

Your little girl is probably overweight for the same reason that you were overweight, Mother, and that she is overeating for her needs. Yes, she should have swimming, skating and dancing, if she can, and increase her other physical exercises too. Of course, it is always wise to have a check-up by a physician, occasionally, whether there is any symptom of disease or not, so I would have her examined. With your experience in reducing your own weight, you will know how to reduce hers.

It is important for a fat child to have her weight reduced, for overweight, as well as underweight, makes children more susceptible to diseases. Besides, the fat child is at a disadvantage with her playmates and may be made unhappy from their jokes.

It is very important in reducing children's weight that only candies and other sweets, starches and fats are limited, for the full quota of growth foods should be taken every day. The reducing pamphlet gives directions which may be applied to children.

Striae Gravidarum

"Since the birth of my baby, I was left with whitish lines on my abdomen. Will these marks ever disappear?"

MRS. C.

Those lines are known as striae gravidarum. (true means lines or stripes, and gravidarum means pregnant.) They are due to stretching of the skin and thinning out of the under layer, with the formation of scar tissue. Once they have appeared, they will always remain.

These striae may appear after almost any kind of stretching of the skin—in heavy, pendulous breasts, for instance, from overweight, or from a large tumor.

Striae gravidarum can largely be prevented, according to McPheters, by persistent daily massage of the abdomen, beginning about the second or third months of pregnancy, with some lubricant, such as cocoa butter or oil. (It is the massage that is effective.) Then the abdominal wall should be supported by a properly fitting support. It must not be tight, however, for wearing tight supports predisposes to the weakness of the abdominal wall.

Exercise of the trunk muscles, especially those that are taken lying on the back—by raising the legs, or the body—and walking on all fours, also strengthens the wall and helps to make an easier labor. Obstetricians are now having their patients being active exercise of the abdominal wall two days after labor, while the patient is still in bed. These are continued after the patient gets up, and are increased. They not only help prevent the relaxation of the abdominal wall, but they help the uterus to go down to its normal size and keep it in its normal position.

We have an article on abdominal exercises.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a young married woman with two adorable children, one girl and a boy. Am 27 years old, and have been married ten years. I have a nice husband at times. He seems to think a lot of his family, and then he goes out of an evening and comes back mad, calls me vile names and says he wants me to leave the house. Now, Mrs. Lee, I never go to shows or anywhere without I ask him to go along, then he says why do you want to go out? Then I give up, and he goes by himself. Now, Mrs. Lee, I am a rather good looking woman, but don't have many nice things for myself or my home, but I do the best I can with what I have. I try to be nice to everyone. I have a good many friends, but don't seem to attract my husband any more. So please give me some advice, as I love him dearly and there is no other, nor ever was."

BLUE EYES.

According to your letter you are doing all that can be humanly expected. The only advice I have to offer is not to take yourself or your husband too seriously. When I get puffed and tell you to leave, pretend you are going and ask him who he thinks will keep house for him and take care of the children for no spending money, and few clothes or amusements. Tell him housekeepers are paid fairly for their services, and are catered to considerably. So if he does not like his, you could easily get another job that would pay you more in money while he would have a sweet time filling your place. Go to a show once in awhile as your right. Be good natured and keep a sense of humor, and realize that you are wonderfully well off with a husband you love and two "adorable" children.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a girl 18 years old and am living with my grandparents. There are boys that want to keep company with me, but my grandparents won't allow it. I think it's all right. Please give me some advice. Do you think I am too young?"

"DAISY."

I think you are young enough to do as your grandparents say at present, Daisy. Show them you are trustworthy, and when you are a little older they will undoubtedly let you have boy friends.

STYLE WHIMISIES

One side of everyone's face is prettier than the other. The latest idea in millinery is to hide the less attractive side with ribbon draperies.

When in doubt wear white. This is the safest rule to follow in ensembling gloves for unusual costume shades and color contrasts.

Even your traveling costume may be a bright shade in these colorful days.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE VINCENT

WHO'S WHO!

All this while Peter was telling all he knew, Sir Drake had said never a word.

He had floated very close to the bank and now the boy noticed that the bird was gazing at him intently. It was a queer expression that Peter could not quite make out. Somehow he felt as though Drake wanted very much to laugh at him. At last the bird spoke in a husky voice that appeared to shake a little.

"Do you think that what you have told me is anything to be proud of, boy?" asked Drake, solemnly.

"If I were you I should feel mighty ashamed of myself for spying into the privacy of perfect strangers and here you are bragging about it! There is one thing sure—if I had done such a sneaky thing no one but myself ever knew it. I would not go round telling about it."

"Strange what rude creatures the Two-Legs are! Stranger still how much better than we birds they think themselves! Why, they never lose an opportunity to make things miserable for us if they possibly can, as if it wasn't hard enough for us as it is."

"I don't believe any other race in the world, unless perhaps it is the insects, run such risks and are surrounded with such dangers as we are birds!

"Even the rains and the winds become our worst enemies at a moment's notice! But, then, none of us knows such joys as do the birds. We have wings to fly when we will in the air, feet to walk on the earth when we are weary of cloudland and we water birds with the webbed feet are the happiest of all, for we can make merry with the waves whenever we wish, and we wish to most of the time."

"No land for me or mine when there is water at hand."

"So you think you know all about me, do you. Two-Legs? Well, let me tell you right now that you have never set eyes on me before today in all your life, and for a very good reason."

"This is the first time I have ever been in this part of the country, and I am not going to stay here long, either. Soon my wife and children will join me—I expect them almost any time—and then, together we all shall fly to the sea."

TEXAS GUINAN SAYS WIVES CAUSE MOST OF MARITAL WOES

NEW YORK, March 14.—Texas Guinan, night club hostess, now comes forward as an authority on husbands—especially discontented husbands and why they get that way.

Three kinds of wives—all the wrong kinds—are responsible when husbands leave home, Texas believes. Her views are quoted in the current issue of Smart Set magazine.

"One kind slumps after marriage," analyzes Miss Guinan. "They allow their homes and themselves to become dull and colorless. If the husband like a little life and gaiety now and then—and what man doesn't?—he has to find it outside the home."

"Other wives feel that they deserve a fling after they have accomplished a marriage. Hubby is somebody to foot the bills and keep in the background. They rest all day and are ready to play around every night. If he is too tired to keep it up or if he can't afford the pace, then that marriage is ready to go boom."

"Then there are the weeping wives, the 'if you go out tonight, I'm going home to mother' kind. Men marry because they are crazy about a girl and think she'll be a good pal for life. When she turns out to be a judge jury and verdict hanger, the man drowns his disappointment in the night clubs or their equivalents."

The reason for most divorces, if you want the blonde Texas' opinion, is not that wives today don't take marriage seriously enough but that they take it too seriously.

"Most wives consider it a serious drama," she opines. "Men want the girl they love to be a playmate as well as a housekeeper and mother. A woman can be a good wife without being a mother and without about it. A man likes to feel that he can count on his wife to revive a party when it is slumping. He wants his friends to like her to envy him having her, to cause other men to say 'Let's go to your house.'"

"A man is just a small boy with a prized marble about his wife. If she loses her luster and her charm, and turns mean on him, he wanders off to find something else. If wives would hang onto their laughs as grimly as they hang on to their husbands the world would be more serene and the divorce courts less crowded."

XENIA GARDEN CLUB INVITED TO DAYTON

The Xenia Garden Club has been extended an invitation to the program of the Dayton Garden School, at the Engineers Club Auditorium, Wednesday, March 20, under the auspices of the extension service of the Ohio State University.

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers, who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do, when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation. It comforts Baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specialists advise.

A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purgative. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

There will be no regular meeting of Troop No. 41, Boy Scouts of America, Thursday night, it is announced by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury. All Scouts of this troop are reminded of the coming jamboree in April and are urged to study up in the subjects of knot-tying, signalling and first aid requirements, particularly at patrol meetings.

Troop No. 45, Boy Scouts of America, will meet Friday night at the Scout cabin. An interesting feature of this meeting will be the awarding of the patrol cup, according to Scoutmaster Ernest Blackburn. Each patrol is asked to have a full attendance at this session as more information regarding the bird house contest will be given out to Scouts.

Four Teams Survive Ross Twp. Tournament

SIX GAMES PLAYED WEDNESDAY TO OPEN INDEPENDENT MEET

Semi-Finals, Finals Friday Afternoon And Evening

Bartlett Clothiers, and the Reco store, both of Springfield, and Bowersville and Selma survived the opening rounds of play Wednesday in the second annual tournament for independent basketball teams of Greene and surrounding counties, being held under auspices of Ross Twp. High School on the Ross floor. No games were played Thursday.

These four teams will meet in the semi-final round Friday afternoon, with Bowersville meeting the Reco quintet at 4 p. m. and Selma playing the Bartlett team at 5 p. m.

The winners will meet in the tournament finals at 9 p. m. Friday and the losing teams in the semi-finals will fight it out for the consolation title at 8 p. m.

Six tournament games were played Wednesday and another contest was won by the forfeit route.

Heaver Creek, in the opening game of the day, was eliminated by Ross Twp., 28 to 21. Bowersville won from Sedalia, 2 to 0 by default and the Bartlett quintet nosed out Pitchin, 31 to 27. In the fourth scheduled game the Reco quintet flashed great scoring power in rolling up a 40 to 27 victory over New Vienna.

This scoring exhibition was then bettered by Selma, which registered an easy 42 to 21 victory over Cedarville. Having won one game by forfeit, Bowersville advanced to the semi-finals by edging out a 27 to 25 victory over Ross Twp. in a fierce struggle and the Bartlett Clothiers wound up the day's play by barely defeating Wilmington, 29 to 27 in another close game.

Nearly 300 fans packed the Ross gymnasium Wednesday to witness the tournament play and an even larger attendance is expected for the semi-finals and final games Friday afternoon and night.

JURY RECESSES TO NEXT WEDNESDAY

With its task not more than half finished, the grand jury for the January term, which convened in special session in Common Pleas Court Wednesday for the purpose of investigating a number of minor cases on the criminal docket, recessed late in the afternoon after deliberating all day and will meet again next Wednesday morning.

Fourteen cases involving twelve persons were docketed for disposition and nearly forty witnesses must be examined before the jury's task is completed. These cases have been accumulating for the last several months.

Following past custom, the jury did not make a partial report but will make a complete report when all the scheduled cases have been investigated.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

There will be no regular meeting of Troop No. 41, Boy Scouts of America, Thursday night, it is announced by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury. All Scouts of this troop are reminded of the coming jamboree in April and are urged to study up in the subjects of knot-tying, signalling and first aid requirements, particularly at patrol meetings.

Troop No. 45, Boy Scouts of America, will meet Friday night at the Scout cabin. An interesting feature of this meeting will be the awarding of the patrol cup, according to Scoutmaster Ernest Blackburn. Each patrol is asked to have a full attendance at this session as more information regarding the bird house contest will be given out to Scouts.

TOURNEY DREW 3,572 FANS

Attendance and receipts at the recent fifteenth annual Greene County Class B High School Basketball Tournament, held at Xenia Central High School gymnasium, exceeded both of the two preceding years the event has been held in this city, according to a financial report drawn up by A. F. Roush, superintendent of Ross Twp. schools, who acted as manager of the tourney for the third straight year.

A total of 3,572 fans attended the games during the two days and receipts amounted to $370.55. Superintendent Roush disclosed. After expenses had been paid, the remainder of the proceeds was prorated among the nine schools which competed in the tournament, each school receiving $50.40.

The attendance for the two days was about 300 greater than last year and would have been even larger if more room could have been provided, he said.

CENTRAL HIGH TEAM GUESTS AT DINNER

A "testimonial dinner" honoring Xenia Central High School's basketball squad for its accomplishment in winning the Miami Valley League cup championship for the second straight year, was enjoyed by the players at the Xenia Candy Kitchen, E. Main St., Wednesday evening.

James Malavazos, one of the proprietors, had promised the boys a "feed" if they won the league title. Besides members of the team, Coach Walter Wilson, Assistant Coach Glen Patterson and Prof. H. E. Seal were also present.

During the meal musical entertainment was provided by three members of the orchestra of Turner's Collegians.

BUCCANEERS TO GET GOLD BASKETBALLS

Members of Xenia Central High's champion basketball team, in addition to receiving letters and being feted at a series of banquets being held in their honor, are to be further rewarded for their services during the season.

They are to receive miniature gold basketballs to be worn on chains.

The school's athletic council, at its recent meeting, voted to purchase the basketballs and they will be ordered at once.

TEXAS GUINAN SAYS WIVES CAUSE MOST OF MARITAL WOES

NEW YORK, March 14.—Texas Guinan, night club hostess, now comes forward as an authority on husbands—especially discontented husbands and why they get that way.

Three kinds of wives—all the wrong kinds—are responsible when husbands leave home, Texas believes. Her views are quoted in the current issue of Smart Set magazine.

"One kind slumps after marriage," analyzes Miss Guinan. "They allow their homes and themselves to become dull and colorless. If the husband like a little life and gaiety now and then—and what man doesn't?—he has to find it outside the home."

"Other wives feel that they deserve a fling after they have accomplished a marriage. Hubby is somebody to foot the bills and keep in the background. They rest all day and are ready to play around every night. If he is too tired to keep it up or if he can't afford the pace, then that marriage is ready to go boom."

"Then there are the weeping wives, the 'if you go out tonight, I'm going home to mother' kind. Men marry because they are crazy about a girl and think she'll be a good pal for life. When she turns out to be a judge, jury and verdict hanger, the man drowns his disappointment in the night clubs or their equivalents."

The reason for most divorces, if you want the blonde Texas' opinion, is not that wives are too much, but that they take it too seriously.

"Most wives consider it a serious drama," she opines. "Men want the girl they love to be a playmate as well as a housekeeper and mother. A woman can be a good wife without being somber and important about it. A man likes to feel that he can count on his wife to revive a party when it is sinking. He wants his friends to like her to envy him having her, to cause other men to say 'Let's go to your house.'"

"A man is just a small boy with a prized marble about his wife. If she loses her luster and her charm, and turns mean on him, he wanders off to find something else. If wives would hang onto their husbands as grimly as they hang to their husbands the world would be more serene and the divorce courts less crowded."

XENIA GARDEN CLUB INVITED TO DAYTON

Give freely

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers, who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do, when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed-up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation. It comforts baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specialists advise.

A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purgative. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Four Teams Survive Ross Twp. Tournament

SIX GAMES PLAYED WEDNESDAY TO OPEN INDEPENDENT MEET

Semi-Finals, Finals Friday Afternoon And Evening

Bartlett Clothiers, and the Reco store, both of Springfield, and Bowersville and Selma survived the opening rounds of play Wednesday in the second annual tournament for independent basketball teams of Greene and surrounding counties, being held under auspices of Ross Twp. High School on the Ross floor. No games were played Thursday.

These four teams will meet in the semi-final round Friday afternoon, with Bowersville meeting the Reco quintet at 4 p. m. and Selma playing the Bartlett team at 5 p. m.

The winners will meet in the tournament finals at 9 p. m. Friday and the losing teams in the semi-finals will fight it out for the consolation title at 8 p. m.

Six tournament games were played Wednesday and another contest was won by the forfeit route.

Heaverbrook, in the opening game of the day, was eliminated by Ross Twp., 28 to 21. Bowersville from Sedalia, 2 to 0 by default and the Bartlett quintet nosed out Pitchin, 31 to 27. In the fourth scheduled game the Reco quintet flashed great scoring power in rolling up a 40 to 27 victory over New Vienna.

This scoring exhibition was bettered by Selma, which registered an easy 42 to 21 victory over Cedarville. Having won one game by forfeit, Bowersville advanced to the semi-finals by edging out a 27 to 25 victory over Ross Twp. In a fierce struggle and the Bartlett Clothiers wound up the day's play by barely defeating Wilmington, 29 to 27 in another close game.

Nearly 300 fans packed the Ross gymnasium Wednesday to witness the tournament play and an even larger attendance is expected for the semi-finals and final games Friday afternoon and night.

KILLING OF MINE R RENEWS
FIGHT TO ABOLISH SYSTEM

underwent the most awful beating I ever have seen. Watts and Lyster kicked and jumped on him and Lyster wielded a poker on his ribs and punched him with it. Dr. H. P. Patterson, an aged man, called in to dress the wounds, pleaded with them to stop, and begged them not to throw hot water on John to bring him to. When Constable Ross Shafer came he refused to interfere and has since said he fell asleep.

"As soon as Patterson went they ripped off the bandages and began their torture again. They kept telling me I was next. To the best of my knowledge Slapikas didn't strike John.

"About 6 o'clock they took John to the hospital and he died at 10. I was put in jail for violating the liquor laws, although the man who placed the charge had only here-say evidence."

The coal and iron police have denied inhuman treatment, declaring Borkoski was arrested and brought to the barracks for cutting an officer.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner hopes to obtain the death penalty for the three men. In 1922 Lyster was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to the electric chair for killing a man in a mine strike, but was pardoned by ex-Governor Gifford Pinchot.

Fight to Abolish System

The Civil Liberties Union, the United Mine Workers of America, who long have been foes of the coal and iron system, and many members of the state legislature are taking part in the fight to either drastically revise or abolish the system.

According to C. E. Leshner, vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., by whom the police and also Borkoski were employed, the company is as eager as anyone else to see the system improved. "This is a deplorable thing. We will do everything we can for the widow. We never have made an attempt to retain the coal and iron system. If the state can devise another method by which we can get adequate protection we will be only too glad to adopt it."

While the agitation continues Mrs. Borkoski prays that she will be able to keep her family together and have enough to feed them, although the farm on which she has lived since November is over-burdened with debt. Her son John, 17, must take up where his father left off, and Bertha, 12; Anthony, 10, and Helen, 15, must aid him.

Motherhood

May be made a joy!

"Mother's Friend" is a comfort to expectant mothers. Externally applied, it relieves prenatal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.

"I am proud of Mother's Friend. It saved my life," writes Mrs. S. Thos. Sherosky, Leechburg, Pa. "My 9 1/2 pound baby boy was born a few minutes before the doctor came, and I didn't know I had him."

Start using "Mother's Friend" tonight! It is sold by all drug stores.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 14.—An obscure miner, brutally beaten to death, alleged by coal and iron policemen, in a barracks at Imperial, Pa., a tiny settlement in the hills near Pittsburgh, has thrown this entire state of Pennsylvania into a turmoil which, it is believed, will result in the overthrow of the "coal and iron system," under which coal companies pay police, hired by the state, to protect their properties.

These coal and iron police are invested with as much authority, under the law, as "a Philadelphia policeman," that is, they can make arrests throughout an entire county.

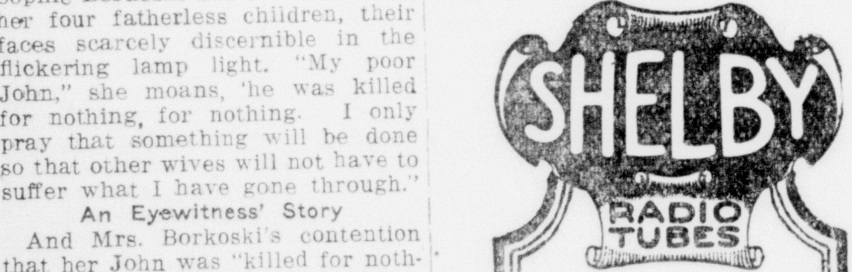

Out in the lonely hills, in a miserable rambling house, Mrs. Sophie Borkoski sits surrounded by her four fatherless children, their faces scarcely discernible in the flickering lamp light. "My poor John," she moans, "he was killed for nothing, for nothing. I only pray that something will be done so that other wives will not have to suffer what I have gone through."

An Eyewitness' Story

And Mrs. Borkoski's contention that her John was "killed for nothing" is borne out by John Higgins, husky young Irishman, the only person to witness the events leading up to the death. Seated in a house at Santiago, Pa., just a shade less wretched than the Borkoski home, he told his story.

"This is where I board, with John's mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Blossick. I was sitting talking to Patsy Caruso, a friend, when two coal and iron police, Harold Watts and Frank Slapikas, came to the door, and I let them in because I used to know them. They pulled out a pint of bonded whiskey and we all had several drinks, and I brought out some home brew. Mrs. Blossick's son, Eddie, came in and an argument over cigarettes began. John Borkoski, waiting to go to work—he worked his farm by day and in the mine at night—was sitting in the kitchen, talking to his mother. He had nothing to do with us.

"When the argument quieted a hit I told the boys to go home, and they all went outside to get into their cars. Watts fell over some wood, and as I stood beside him he yelled that he had been stabbed, and that Borkoski, who had come outside and was standing some distance away, had stabbed him. I knew that John hadn't been near him. I think Watts had been cut with a nail in the boards over which he fell. He began to hit John with his gun and when I tried to stop him he hit me and knocked me out. When I came to he was still beating John in the house."

Blood stains on the walls bore mute testimony of this.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. F. W. HUGHES AFTER OPERATIONS HERE

Complications which developed following an appendicitis and tonsil operation performed more than a week ago resulted in the death of Mrs. Mattie E. Hughes, 49, Yellow Springs, wife of F. W. Hughes, proprietor of an auto wrecking business on Dayton Ave., this city, at a Xenia hospital at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Hughes was a prominent member of the Methodist Church at Yellow Springs and took an active part in various social functions.

Besides her husband, she leaves three sons and one daughter: Leo, Howard and Miss Martha, all at home, and Chester, at present located at Hollywood, Calif., who has been a motion picture actor for the last five years. Also surviving are three sisters: Mrs. Goldie Burkhead, Bellare, O.; Mrs. Angie Smith, California, and Mrs. Oren Brown, Springfield, and two brothers, Thomas Halstead, Xenia, and Lee Halstead, of California.

Funeral services will be conducted at her home in Yellow Springs at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon with interment in the Yellow Springs Cemetery.

XENIA PASTOR WILL PREACH IN DAYTON

The Rev. H. B. McElree, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church here, will preach at the Wayne Ave. U. P. Church Dayton, during the second week of joint evangelistic services beginning in the two Dayton churches Sunday night.

Plans for the joint meetings were laid at a meeting of official boards of the churches at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. During the first week of the services, beginning Sunday, both congregations will meet for the first three nights at the Wayne Ave. church, with Dr. D. L. McBride of the First Church, preaching. Beginning Wednesday night the meeting will be at the First Church where the Rev. J. T. Vorhies will preach.

During the second week each congregation will be in its own church, with the sermons by out of town ministers. The Rev. Mr. McElree will preach at the Wayne Ave. church all week but the First Church will invite a different minister each night.

LEGAL NOTICE

Conforming to Sec. No. 6222 G. C. of Ohio, Property Owners take notice that Assessments for Road Improvement Columbus-Cincinnati I. C. H. No. 6 Section L for Xenia Township and Spring Valley Township have been filed in the County Commissioners Office, Xenia, O., by the County Surveyor, and time for hearing has been set as of March 26th, 1936 at ten o'clock A. M. in the County Commissioners office at the Court House, Xenia, O.

If any property owner affected thereby desires to make objections, he may file his objections in writing with the board of County Commissioners before the time of said hearing.

Mothers—Try Mild Children's Musterole

Of course, you know good old Musterole; how quickly, how easily it relieves chest colds, sore throat, rheumatic and neuralgic pain, sore joints and muscles, stiff neck and lumbago.

We also want you to know CHILDREN'S MUSTEROLE—Musterole in milder form. Unexcelled for relief of croupy coughs and colds; it penetrates, soothes and relieves without the blister of the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Keep a jar handy. It comes ready to apply instantly, without fuss or bother.

TAGGART ESTATE IS GIVEN TO FAMILY; EMPLOYEES BENEFIT

Members of the family of the late Thomas Taggart, Indianapolis politician and former Xenian, are chief beneficiaries of his estate after bequests ranging from $250 to $1,000 for seventeen employees are taken out.

Mrs. Taggart will receive one-third of the residue and the remainder will be divided equally between his children: Thomas Taggart, Jr., Miss Lucy Taggart, Mrs. Laurence Chambers, Mrs. Emily Sinclair of Indianapolis and Mrs. Irene Young of Louisville. The will was admitted to probate in Indianapolis Wednesday.

Although the estate was not valued, it has been estimated as high as seven or eight million dollars. Mr. Taggart's properties at French Lick, Ind., however, are supposed to have constituted the bulk of his holdings and it is understood he divided them several years ago among members of his family.

Mrs. Taggart, Miss Taggart and Thomas, Jr., were named executors and gave bond for $10,000 each, indicating that approximately $300,000 of the estate remains to be distributed. The will was executed November 27, 1926.

XENIA GRANGE WILL GIVE PLAY FRIDAY

"In An Airplane Passenger Station" is the title of the play to be given by the Xenia Grange, Friday evening, at its regular meeting in the K. of P. Hall. The play is under the direction of Miss Lois Hutchison. In the cast are: Misses Grace Delph, Margaret Delph, Grace Hutchison and Lois Hutchison and Erle Hutchison, Elwood Harner, Lyle Delph, Ray Murray, Faye Murray, Paul Harner, Paul Butt and Ronald Butt.

ZIMMERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson were recent Sunday dinner guests of their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Herman Williamson in Dayton and attended the splendid program given at the N. C. R. school house by members of the religious education classes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Williamson (Catherine Durnbaugh) have gone to housekeeping in Dayton. The former has a position with the N. C. R. Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Harbison Hagelbuck were recent visitors at their farm at Shoup's Station.

Clifford Williamson of the S. S. Kresge Co. of Indianapolis, has been transferred by them to Racine, Wis.

Fred Belden, wife and children, moved from Columbus to the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Belden at Shoup's Station, where they will remain temporarily.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart and daughters Ruth and Martha, have moved into the duplex house at Alpha, belonging to F. C. Hubbard. They sold their property at Zimmerman to Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Durnbaugh, and expect to build another home later.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durnbaugh

(Grace Miller) entertained recently at a family dinner, at which the former's parents and grandparents were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Funk and family have moved from the Harterstick farm to Xenia. We regret to lose this worthy family.

Mrs. Crawford Coy assisted her friend and former neighbor, Mrs. Clyde Bartley (Hazel Carpenter), to pack for moving from Belmont to a farm near New Jasper.

Mrs. Frank Koogler has been sick for several months with stomach trouble.

A merry party of young people "belled" and "showered" Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Durnbaugh (Alma Belt) at their home on the Xenia Pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Coy and son Kenneth, were members of a group of twenty-two friends of a neighbor from Belmont who surprised Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bartley at their new home near New Jasper Saturday night.

Mrs. Crawford Coy was hostess to the Community Club Wednesday afternoon. On account of the illness and other social affairs, only seven members were present, so no election of officers was held. The club voted to hold a market in Xenia.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Tries Suicide After Shooting Daughters

Do They Hear Those Bride Bells Ring?

Anne Morrow looks so deeply serious in this picture that perhaps she is thinking of the future as Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. Lindy, too, is serious, as befits his new role. Here is the Morrow home at Englewood, N. J., where he pressed his suit. Will the wedding take place there?

Honored by Irish

Said to be the only American architect asked to design a church for worshippers in Ireland, Francis Barry Byrne, a young Chicagoan, has completed his plans for a church to be erected in Cork, Ireland. The edifice is to be of concrete and modernistic in treatment.

No Good to Him Now

According to police statements, Bernard Maynard of Muncie, Ind., admitted to the robbery of the Hickville, Ohio, bank of $8,000 when he was arrested at Zanesville, Ohio. Three other men are said to have been involved in the robbery from which Maynard netted $2,000 as his share.

FIRST TO VIEW VOLCANO ERUPTION

Marion and Eva Molan, already in the limelight because they claim to be the only women in America who can claim no home town, are said to have been the first sightseers to reach the Halemauau fire pit when Kilauea volcano, Hawaii, broke forth in a recent eruption. The Molan girls have been traveling for 15 years and claim no city as their residence. They are shown on arrival at Los Angeles.

Separated? Does It Look That Way?

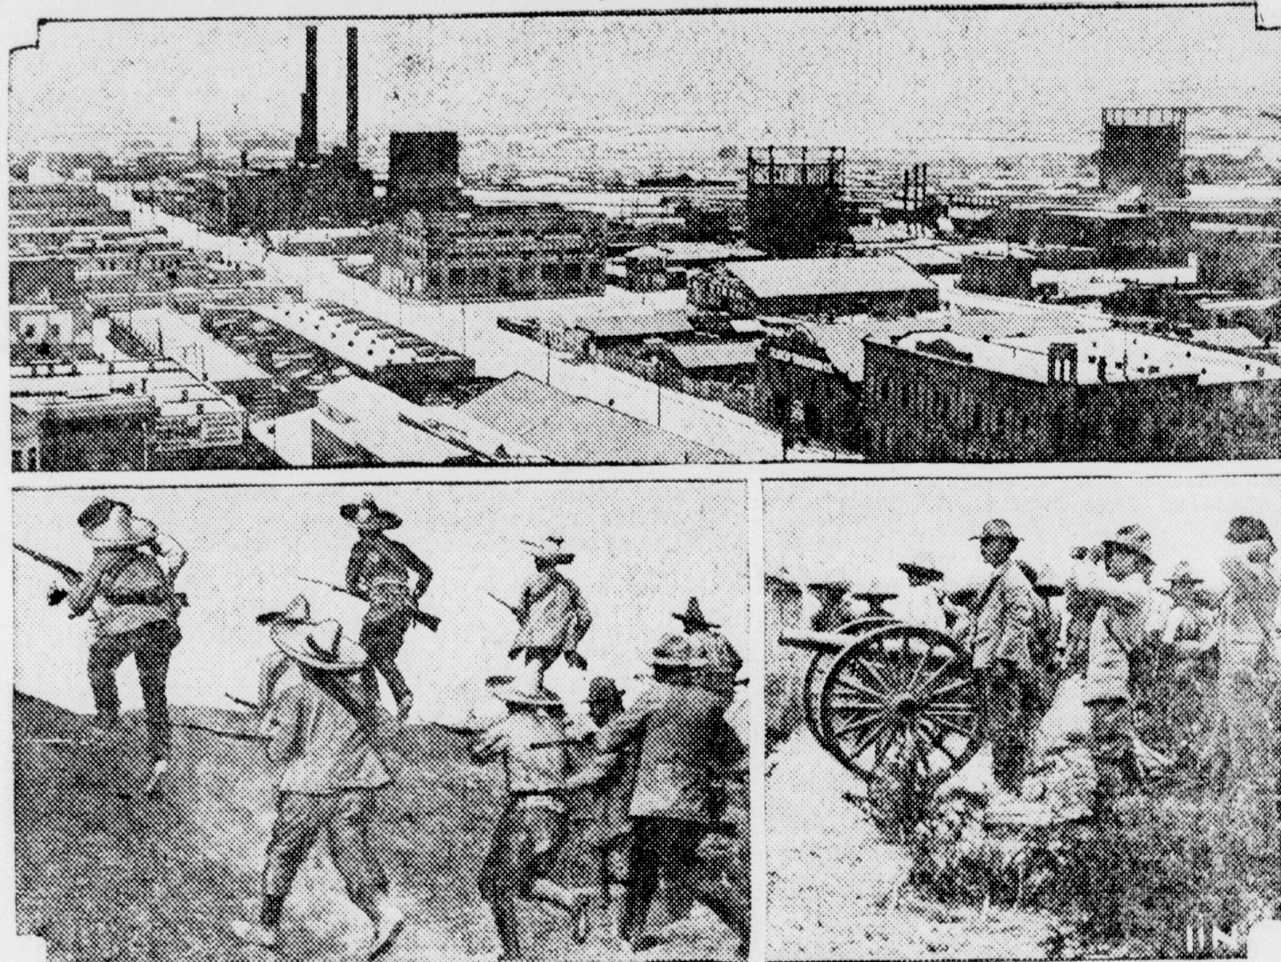

People will insist on reporting a rift in the marital happiness of Jack Dempsey and his beautiful actress-wife, Estelle Taylor. And Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey are just as persistent in branding the rumors ridiculous. This picture, taken as the Dempseys were recovering from the excitement of the Sharkey-Stribling fight at Miami Beach, Fla., doesn't go far to substantiate the hints of dissension in the ex-champion's household.

Divorce? It's All Right with Her

When informed that Lieutenant Benjamin Manning was seeking a divorce, Mrs. Lois Knowlton Manning, the former wife of Horace Dodge, Jr., declared she would welcome her freedom. Upon being told that the lieutenant had declared her "money was intolerable," Mrs. Manning only smiled and suggested there had been times "when my money was not as great a curse as Mr. Manning would have you believe."

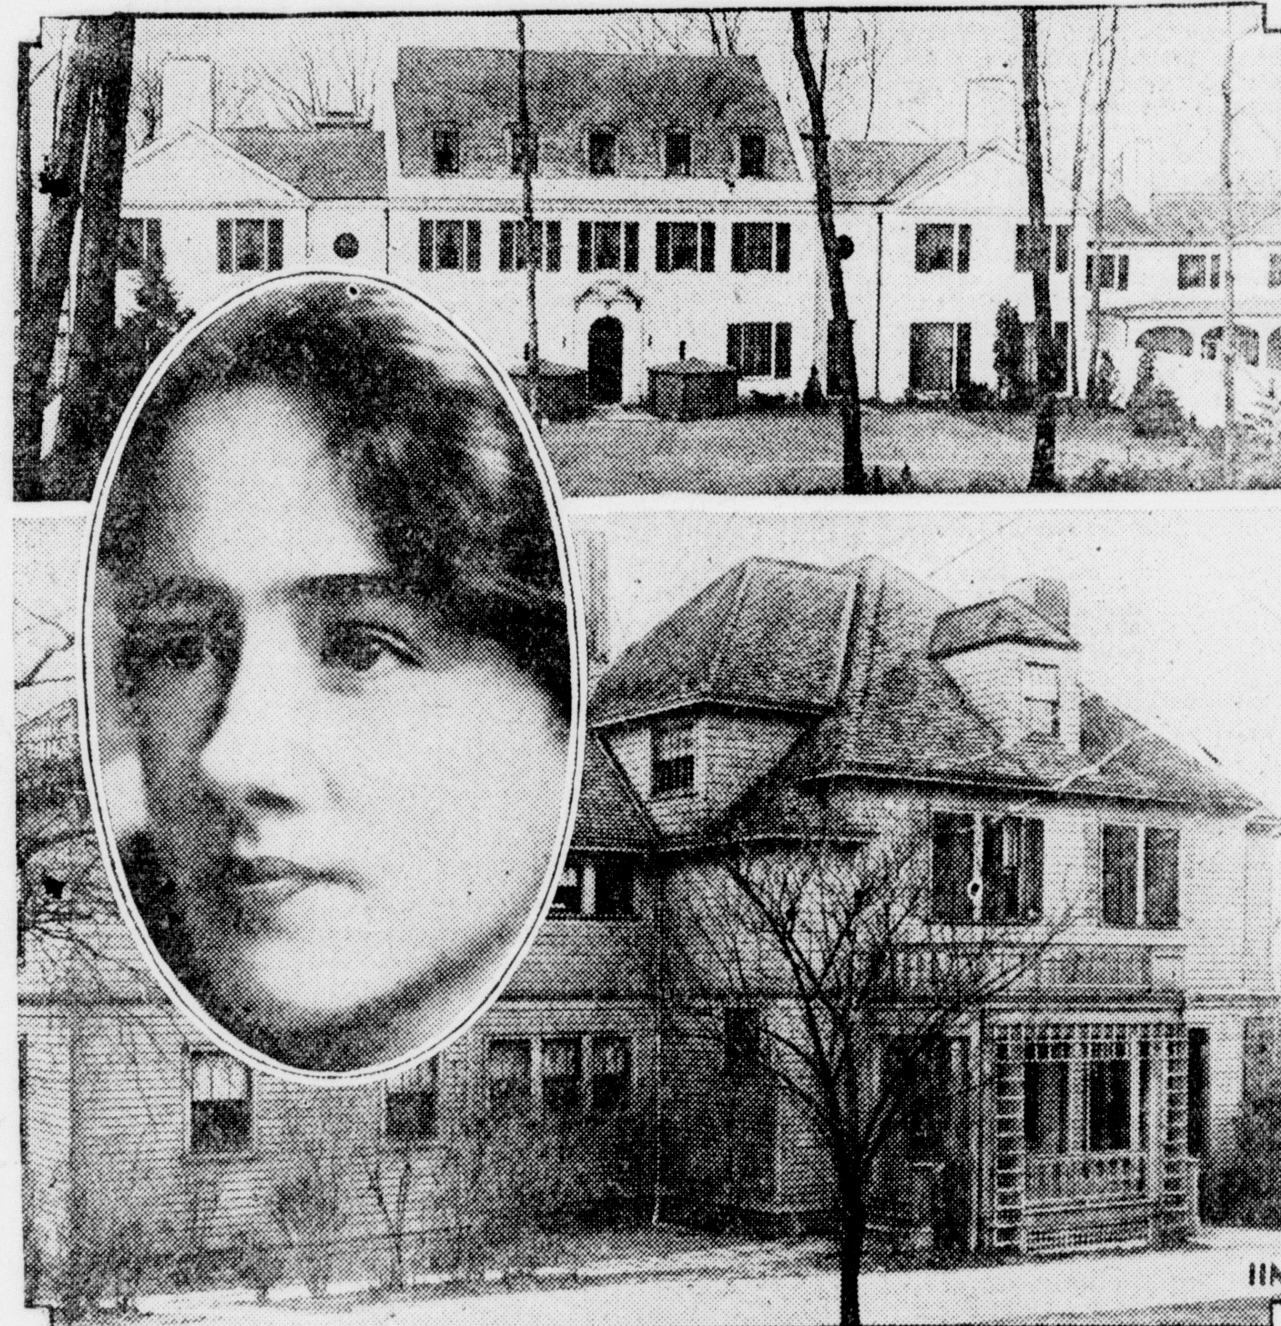

Jaurez Battle Suspended Under Truce

Hundreds of El Paso citizens were treated to a view of the battle between the rebel and federal forces in Mexico for possession of Jaurez, top, just across the border. The rebel forces are now in control of the city and three hundred federals are interned in Fort Bliss awaiting final decision by the War Department as to their future. Former President

Calles, Minister of War, has left Mexico City for the front, heading the largest concentration of troops in Mexican history to check the advance of the rebels. The scenes, left and right below, were taken during the revolution of 1913 which swept close to our border in Texas as does the present uprising.

Jersey Scene of Lindy's Marriage?

The marriage of Colonel Charles Lindbergh and Miss Anne Morrow, inset, probably will take place at Englewood, N. J., but it was made plain by Mrs. Morrow that the time and place had not been decided and that it was entirely up to the engaged pair. The picture above shows the new home, top, of Ambassador Morrow's family at Englewood and below is their old home in which Anne was born.

TRAGEDY SHADOWS OIL PALACE

This is the famous "house that oil built" at Los Angeles, scene of the double shooting of Edward L. Doheny, Jr., and Theodore Hugh Plunkett, his secretary, who first shot his employer, then turned his gun on himself. At left above is the widow, Mrs. E. L. Doheny Jr., and Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, right, the physician called on the telephone by Doheny, Jr., to attend Plunkett, who had been in a high, nervous condition, and who arrived just as the tragedy occurred.

Seek Air Record

Squadron Leader Herbert Jones-Williams (top) and Flight Lieutenant John A. Major, who will pilot giant Fairey-Napier monoplane in attempt to remain in the air longer than eighty hours. It will be Britain's first bid for endurance flight honors.

This is the first snapshot of the Hyde family since Arthur M. Hyde took office as the new Secretary of Agriculture. With the cabinet officer are Mrs. Hyde and their daughter, Caroline Hyde, in Washington, D. C.

HOME TOWN GREET'S "FIGHTING JIM"

After 18 years in the senate James A. Reed, Missouri's fighting warrior, has returned to his home in Kansas City and private life. As he stepped from the train he was greeted by throngs of friends and a band, and tears dimmed his eyes as he accepted their tribute.

FRED FLYNN NAMED DIRECTOR OF MILK PRODUCERS' BODY

Fred Flynn, Xenia, was elected a director of the Miami Valley Milk Producers Association representing Greene County at the third annual meeting Tuesday at the Dayton Y. M. C. A.

Other directors named were: J. B. Kauffman, Montgomery County; Charles T. Stockslager, Preble County; O. C. Ryan, Darke County; Elmer Millhouse, Miami County; Frank Funderburg, Clark County; Harry Littlejohn, Champaign County; P. E. McIner, Warren County.

These directors replace a board that has served four years, and they will meet next Tuesday to elect association officers. Approximately 1,000 people attended the luncheon given at the association creamery Tuesday and the afternoon attendance totaled the auditorium at the Y. M. C. A.

SELECT KING AND QUEEN OF FESTIVAL

CHARDON, O., March 14.—King and Queen of the fourth annual Maple Sugar Festival to be held at Chardon April 5 and 6 soon will be selected.

A trip to Washington is in store for the winners. They will carry prize maple syrup to present to President Hoover.

Any boy or girl in Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Portage or Medina counties is eligible to enter the contest.

Contestants must be attired in costumes appropriate for a day in the sugar camp. In selecting the winners, judges will consider the costumes and personality of the entrants. The coronation ceremony will take place on the opening day of the festival.

Thousands gather each year to see the sugar camps compete for honors. Chardon will resemble an enormous camp during the festival. The largest sugar house in the world will block one of the main streets.

HOME PUPIL DIES FROM INFLUENZA

Marking the only fatality resulting from 354 cases of influenza at the institution since the holidays, Richard Harold Turner, 7, son of Henry H. Turner, Urbana, died at the O. S. and S. O. Home Tuesday. The boy was stricken with influenza and double pneumonia developed.

Two sisters of the deceased, Alice and Mary, are also wards at the home while a third sister lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner at Huntsville, O.

Funeral services were to be conducted at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the institution in charge of the Rev. W. E. Church, pastor of the First M. E. Church, this city and burial will be made at Huntsville, near Bellefontaine.

PRIEST, NATIVE OF JAMESTOWN, DIES

The Rev. Robert J. Pratt, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Kokomo, Ind., a native of Jamestown, died Friday, March 1, at Kokomo and funeral services and burial were held there.

The Rev. Father Pratt was born in Jamestown November 19, 1864, and lived there until manhood. He became a convert to the Catholic Church in 1885 and entered St. Viator College at Kankakee, Ill., and then going to St. Mary's, Cincinnati, following his graduation. He was ordained a priest June 28, 1894, and was sent to St. Mary's Church, Lafayette, Ind., where he served until 1895 when he was assigned to St. Patrick's Church, Kokomo, Ind. He served later at Wabash, Ind., and became pastor of the Kokomo Church in 1910.

AN EASY WAY TO LOSE FAT

Instead of abnormal exercise or diet, they combat a cause of excess fat. They supply an element Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy. This method was discovered by researchmen some two decades ago. It has for 20 years been embodied in Marmola's prescription tablets. Millions of boxes have been taken, and almost every circle shows the results in new beauty, new health and vitality.

The formula comes in every box, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Go learn now what Marmola does for excess fat, and why. Your druggist supplies it at $1 per box. Take four tablets daily and watch the change.

EASTERN STAR PICKS OFFICERS AT MEET

present grand secretary, Mrs. Eva J. Penn, Washington C. H., past grand matron of Ohio; Mrs. Savella Johnson, Celina, worthy grand matron; Mrs. Julia Ewry, Dayton, grand Ruth of the grand chapter; Mrs. Laura Guy Keller, Columbus, grand chaplain of the state of Ohio, and Mrs. Lucy Baldwin, St. Paris, grand representative of Wyoming. One of the most interesting features was a traveling Bible used on the altar at the morning session. This Bible was put in circulation by R. T. King Chapter of Columbus in 1924 and will eventually travel around the world.

It has already been in a great number of states but is to stay within the state of Ohio during the year 1929. The book contains many signatures of distinguished people, including President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

The Bible must always be in the custody of a Mason or an Eastern Star. It was used in Denver, Colo., at the general grand chapter session last July and will also be used in Columbus at the grand chapter session in October this year. It was brought to the district meeting here by Mrs. Keller, the grand chaplain of Ohio.

Following are the committees which had charge of arrangements:

Registration committee—Miss Florence Swan, Xenia, chairman, and Mrs. Lena Detrick, New Carlisle and Mrs. Josephine Dyer, West Jefferson.

Committee on place of meeting for 1930—Mrs. Myrtle Home City Chapter, Springfield, chairman, and Mrs. Alta Dunn, of North Chapter, Springfield, Mrs. Alona Gower, of Portia Chapter, No. 448, and Mrs. Olive B. Feather, of Elizabeth Chapter No. 56.

Courtesy committee—Mrs. Anna Bown, South Charleston, chairman; Mrs. Eva E. Wright, Cedarville; Mrs. Lina Hewitt, of Nellie Collins Chapter, No. 491.

Music committee—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Corry and Mr. Faye Kershner, all of Corry Chapter, No. 445 at Yellow Springs.

present grand secretary; Mrs. Eva J. Penn, Washington C. H., past grand matron of Ohio; Mrs. Savella Johnson, Celina, worthy grand matron; Mrs. Julia E. Day, Dayton, grand Ruth of the grand chapter; Mrs. Laura Guy Keller, Columbus, grand chaplain of the state of Ohio, and Mrs. Lucy Baldwin, St. Paris, grand representative of Wyoming.

One of the most interesting features was a traveling Bible used on the altar at the morning session. This Bible was put in circulation by R. King Chapter of Columbus in 1924 and will eventually travel around the world.

It has already been in a great number of states but is to stay within the state of Ohio during the year 1929. The book contains many signatures of distinguished people, including President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

The Bible was always in the custody of a Mason or an Eastern Star. It was used in Denver, Colo., at the general grand chapter session last July and will also be used in Columbus at the grand chapter session in October this year. It was brought to the district meeting here by Mrs. Keller, the grand chaplain of Ohio.

Following are the committees which had charge of arrangements:

Registration committee—Miss Florence Swan, Xenia, chairman, and Mrs. Lena Dietrich, New Carlisle and Mrs. Josephine Dyer, West Jefferson.

Committee on place of meeting for 1930—Mrs. Myrtle McKee, of Home City Chapter, Springfield, chairman, and Mrs. Alta Dunn, Xenia, chapter, Springfield, Mrs. Alona Gower, of Portia Chapter, No. 445, and Mrs. Olive B. Feather, of Elizabeth Chapter, No. 56.

Courtesy committee—Mrs. Anna Bown, South Charleston, chairman; Mrs. Eva E. Wright, Cedarville; Mrs. Lina Hewitt, of Nellie Courts Chapter, No. 491.

Music committee—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cory and Mr. Faye Kershner, all of Antioch Chapter, No. 445 at Yellow Springs.

Passed Up!

By ROE FULKERSON

READ THIS FIRST:

Betty Brown, a dancer, attracts many friends when dancing. George Harris, the faithful one, disapproves of her profession. Because she will not "be kind" to him, a ward boss makes it impossible for her to get work in the theaters and night clubs. Andy Adair, the son of wealthy parents, proposes to furnish a small apartment for her. Before she decides the problem the car is wrecked and she recovers from a dislocated knee in the hospital, which Adair never visits. George Harris pays her hospital bills. In despair, she decides to marry George, but when she thinks he is proposing matrimony it develops that he is proposing to give her a position in the restaurant he has just purchased.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII

It was another week before Betty was able to hobble down town on her still stiff leg. In spite of regular exercise, she was still unable to bend her knee to anything like right angles. It bothered her less in walking after she learned the trick of swinging it from her hip, but when she sat down it stuck out almost straight in front, and she went up or down steps very awkwardly.

She read carefully the books George gave her, and was deeply interested in both the food and financial problems of a restaurant. It was with real pleasure she took her position behind the cash desk. At first the work was difficult to handle at the rush hour, but she soon learned the cashiers' trick of making rapid change. Then she enjoyed watching the streams of people pass on their way into and out of the cafe.

Finding George came at seven o'clock, and handled the cash until she retired at eight-thirty, she began to rise earlier to be there when the restaurant opened. She stayed until George closed, working fourteen hours a day. George protested, but she insisted. If he were able to work those hours, she was equally capable of doing so.

She had her reward; in her first week's pay envelope she found twenty-five dollars instead of the twenty he had told her she would start with. With three meals at the restaurant, this was as much as she had made with her dancing counting out the weeks when there was no work, the meals to be bought, and the extra expense of costumes.

During the lull around three o'clock that afternoon she went to George at one of the tables. "George, you have been more than kind to me in the matter of salary. I want to thank you for it."

"It is quite all right," returned George. "You earned every cent or I would not give it to you. I have been watching you are careful and accurate, and take an interest in your work."

"I am glad I please you, but I want you to do something else for me. Tell me the total of my hospital bills, so I can pay you back a little each week and get out of your debt."

"We won't worry about that now."

"I would be better satisfied if you did."

"Well, I understand how you feel. It was two hundred and twenty-five dollars."

"Then," said Betty, "I want to give back five dollars each week until it is paid. I will feel less like an object of charity."

"Very well, I understand. I don't blame you. If you prefer, I will give you twenty each week. The other five will clear up your indebtedness in less than a year."

The Theater

Because of the fabled high salaries of the movies, Hollywood vies with New York as the melting pot of the nation. Witness the latest acquisition—Natacha Golitzin, Russian princess, whose lineage can be traced back to Gedimin, Grand Prince of Poland, to Prince Mickhael, the Vasily the Great who ruled Russia when Peter the Great was a boy.

But Natacha Golitzin, whose past "Alias Jimmy Valentine" and "The Flying Fleet", which were seen at the Bijou. Others on the list follow:

"The Glorious Trail," a story concerning the establishment of the first telegraph lines;

"Hey, Ruben," a drama of carnival life;

"Interference," an all-talkie with William Powell, Evelyn Brent and Clive Brook;

"Mickey's Wild West," entertaining comedy;

"Whozit?," featuring trick photography;

"America," a romance of the American Revolution;

"Abraham Lincoln," a drama of Lincoln's life;

"The Higher Mercy," an episode in Lincoln's life.

During one of Chevalier's eight songs she comes to him, places her arms about his neck and receives a kiss in other days it was different. Few men, not even the great Chevalier of the Casino de Paris,

A modern version of the Easter bonnet, made of angora wool, is worn by Mary Brian. But the bonnet is nowhere as important to moviegoers as is Mary.

FIFTH ESSAY IN LEGION CONTEST

The following essay by Charlene Wilson, 14, of 232 W. Church St., was fifth in the American Legion essay contest on "What Constitutes Good Citizenship?"

WHAT CONSTITUTES GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The definition for a citizen is: A member of a state or nation, who enjoys political rights and privileges. A good citizen therefore, will appreciate these rights and privileges, by abiding by the laws of the city, state and nation, in which he lives. We have in the United States, three groups of citizens, as follows: Native born, naturalized and alien. The first two mentioned, have all the rights and privileges as well as the obligations of citizenship. The alien citizen is foreign born, therefore has limited rights, in the country in which he is living.

Many of the basic rights and privileges we enjoy, have been obtained by our citizens, as a result of the Revolutionary War, and in the Declaration of Independence, we find the democratic rights of a citizen of a democracy.

The basis of good citizenship begins in the home. A child must be taught obedience, respect of rights of others, co-operation and ideals, for as has been said, "As a twig is bent, so shall the tree grow."

A good citizen will be interested in religion, for a community could not exist, without the influence of the church, because sin and crime would be so much greater. A good citizen will have a good character, reputation and a live conscience. Character is what one is, and what one knows himself to be, but reputation is what others think of us, a good citizen can have both, and he will have the interest of others at heart.

A good citizen will have interest in affairs of the community in which he lives, and will stand firm for the things that are right, and just as firm against the things that are wrong. He will read good literature, and thus keep himself well posted upon the worth while subjects, religiously, politically and socially. He will always try in voting, to vote for men that stand for the best things for our country.

Children in school should be taught and trained to respect their flag, and thus grow up appreciating their duties and responsibilities, as citizens.

Prohibition will be respected by those who have the welfare of our country at heart, for anything that tends to break down the morale of our young people, is striking at the heart of a nation.

A good citizen will always be interested in the progress of education, he will strive to fit himself, in every way possible, to serve his fellow men, for in service to others we find happiness.

These are some of the basic principles, which constitute good citizenship.

Former Sufferer, Happy With Renewed Health, Pays Grateful Tribute To Famous Herbal Compound

"Astounding, that is what I say of this new and different medicine, Konjola," said Mr. A. A. Cliff, 701 Third St., N. W., Canton, Ohio. "For many years I suffered dreadfully from stomach trouble—food formed into a heavy, sudden mass, fermenting gases that caused shortness of breath. My vitality was low; I had no resistance, and the least physical exertion exhausted me. My nerves became all unstrung and sound sleep was out of the question. Catarrh set in, affecting my head, and made me hard of hearing. I was discouraged and disheartened.

"Then I began hearing about this wonderful Konjola. I wondered if it could do any good for me at this advanced stage. I decided to give it a trial, and it went right to improve; my stomach started functioning better and the catarrhal condition was rapidly drying up. By the time I had completed the fifth bottle, I felt like a different man. I now eat three meals a day, enjoy them, and never suffer the slightest after effects. All traces of the catarrh have disappeared. I praise Konjola, and want to say that this is the master medicine of them all."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with their new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher drug store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section. —Adv.
